#1 Lincoln Cent Collection

This 136 piece collection of Lincoln cents dates from 1909 to 1958 and is complete with the exception of the following coins: 1909-S, 1909-S VDB, 1914-D, 1922 Plain, 1931-S and 1955 Doubled Die. You will receive all of the semi-key dates: 1909 VDB, 1910-S, 1911 DS, 1912 DS, 1913 DS, 1914-S, 1915-S, 1922-D, 1923-S, 1924-D, 1926-S, 1931-D, 1932 PD and 1933-D. Housed in two Harris folders, this set of Lincoln cents (1909-1958) will grade Good to Brilliant Uncirculated and have a guaranteed retail value of well over $325.00. Don't miss the boat, this attractive collection is priced at only...

$269.50

#2 Old Joe's Hoard

Lincolns, Lincolns and more Lincolns! For years, one of our customers, "Old Joe" has been accumulating Lincoln cents. Not just any Lincolns, but AU and BU wheats. If it had lustre on it, it was thrown into a five gallon bottle. After over ten years, Old Joe has amassed over twenty full five gallon bottles of AU/BU wheats, and he says he is still accumulating! We purchased Old Joe's hoard and took a sampling and found some coins in the 1930's and many in the 1940's and 1950's. No coin is dated after 1955, and there are many "S" mints. We even found steel cents! Rather than sorting them by date and mint mark, we are offering them to you in lots of 100 + coins. You will love the date mixture, and to make sure that you are delighted, we will add a nice AU/BU 1909 VDB in each lot. A great buy.

$49.50

#3 Early Indian Cents

This lot starts with a copper-nickel issue (1859-1864) and every coin is dated in the 1800's. All 50 coins grade Good or better, and there will be a good date mixture.

$99.50

#4 Proof Coin Collection

We are overstocked on proof singles and you can be the beneficiary. We offer 50 different proof singles starting with Lincoln cents and ending with an Anthony dollar. There will be a nice assortment of every denomination and at least 20% of the coins will be silver. At just over a $1.50 coin, this group is a real winner at only...

$79.50

#5 "V" Nickels

Starting with an 1883 No Cent and ending with a 1912-D, this 40 coin lot features many different dates including some in the 1800's. All coins will grade Good or better.

$52.50

#6 Lincoln Cent Short Set (1941-1958)

We offer a 51 piece Lincoln Cent short set (1941-1958) in nice circulated condition for only ....

$9.95

#7 Buffalo Nickels

Issued from 1913 to 1938, the Buffalo Nickel is undoubtedly one of the most popular coins of the 20th Century. We just bought a large quantity of Buffaloes grading Good or better. There are teens, twenties and thirties in each lot (mostly twenties and thirties), and a nice sampling of coins from all three mints. As an added bonus, we will include with every lot, a nice 1913, the first year of issue.

40 Coins.....$47.50      100 Coins.....$99.50

#8 Jefferson Nickel Collection

This very affordable 71 piece collection includes every date and mint-mark issued from 1938 to 1964, all in VG-BU condition. As a special bonus, we will include five different Jeffersons in Proof condition. All of this for only...

Designed by Charles E. Barber and issued from 1892 to 1916, this mixture of Barber dimes, quarters and halves will all grade Good. You will receive a total of ten dimes, twelve quarters and twelve halves, with no date/mintmark duplication within the denomination. With a total face value of $10.00, this Barber coin mixture is a great deal at only...

$329.50

#12 Silver War Nickel Lot

During World War II, due to shortages in nickel, a new alloy was used for the five cent coin. It was comprised of 56% copper, 35% silver and 9% manganese. These "war nickels" were issued from 1942 to 1945. Easily distinguished by their color and by the large mintmark (P/D or S) above the dome of Monticello, these coins are forever gone from circulation. We offer rolls of 40 coins which include at least one complete set of war nickels for only...

$59.50

#13 Global Treasure Chest

We just received a large shipment of mixed foreign coins from overseas. Upon inspection we found that the mix of coins was fantastic! It looks like everything from Argentina to Zanzibar is represented. We even saw some silver coins! To spice up this mixture even more, we will add three different crowns, including a silver crown plus a genuine ancient Roman Coin and price this one pound lot at only...

$39.50

Dewey and Warren (1948)

The Presidential election of 1948 was supposed to have been a slam-dunk victory for the Republicans. The Democratic candidate, Harry S. Truman, who had become president upon the death of Franklin Roosevelt, was the definite underdog! Most prominent Democrats didn't even feel that the party would affirm his nomination at the convention. The Republicans chose Thomas Dewey of New York, who had been their Presidential candidate in 1944 against F.D.R. On the eve of the election, national pollsters were unanimous in predicting Truman's defeat. The Gallup Poll showed a 49% to 44% Dewey advantage, Roper announced it at 52% to 47%, and Crossley predicted 50% to 45%. On Election Day it was Truman 49% to Dewey's 45%! We offer a multi-colored 1.25 inch jugate Republican campaign button featuring Thomas Dewey and Earl Warren. Picturing the candidates in sepia, flanked by a full color American flag, this very scarce 1948 button is in near mint condition and is priced at only...

Medieval Silver Coins from the Ottoman Empire

During the Turkish Ottoman Empire, the primary monetary unit was the akce. The name akce (pronounced "akche") meant "silver coin", but eventually the meaning became synonymous with money. These small silver coins were produced in silver rich Serbia starting in 1441 after being captured by Ottoman forces and varied in weight, usually between 1.15 and 1.18 grams. One hundred and twenty akce equaled a kurus, which, in 1687, became the main unit of currency, replacing the akce. We offer you this medieval coin for only...

Jimmy Carter "Flasher Buttons"

The Bicentennial year 1976 marked a presidential election year. For the Republicans, it was the "incumbent" Gerald Ford, who had beat out Ronald Reagan to be the G.O.P. nominee. For the Democrats, it was a dark horse, Jimmy Carter, who was overwhelmingly victorious over his competition at the D.N.C. In the election of 1976, Carter promised to restore trust in government (in light of the Watergate scandals) and offered "a new vision for America". When the campaign began, Carter was over 30 points ahead in the polls. On Election Day, it was Carter with 50% of the popular vote to Ford's 48%, and in electoral votes, it was Carter 297, Ford 240. We offer two different 2.5 inch black and white flasher buttons featuring Jimmy Carter:

"Peter the Great" 500 Rubles Note

This century-old 500 Rubles banknote is the largest currency (in size) ever printed by the Imperial Russian Empire, measuring a massive 5" x 10.75". Dated 1912, it features Czar Peter I, better known as "Peter the Great", who ruled Russia from 1682 until his death in 1725. The obverse of this extremely ornate note depicts Peter the Great in battle uniform. It also portrays a seated allegoric woman symbolizing Mother Russia along with a large watermark of the Czar. The reverse is multi-colored and proudly displays the Russian Coat of Arms. Worth the equivalent of $250.00 in U.S. funds in 1912, this large denomination note would have purchased a house in Russia at the time of issue. This note was authorized by the last Russian Czar, Nicholas II, who was deposed in 1917 and then executed along with his entire family by the Bolsheviks. We offer this spectacular note which was printed at the twilight of the Imperial Russian Empire. Grading Crisp AU/CU, each note is housed in an archival plastic holder and is available for only ...

A Rare Hoard of Alexander the Great Tetradrachms

Alexander the Great's astonishing overthrow of the greatest empire of his day, and the important political and economic changes have made a profound impression on the history of the world. In 336 B.C., his father Phillip II was preparing to expand the Greek Empire when he was assassinated. With lightning quick military advances and brilliant military strategy, Alexander the Great consolidated power in Greece. Two years after his father's death, in 334 B.C. he was proclaimed leader of Greece. As leader of Greece his first major battle was against the Persian Empire. In this David versus Goliath struggle, the Persian Empire was pushed back, defeated, destroyed and scattered. The leader of the Persian Empire, Darius, and his ablest generals were defeated over and over again until Alexander the Great conquered a vast territory stretching all the way to India. It was an extraordinary achievement, perhaps the greatest series of military victories in the history of mankind. All of this was accomplished before his premature death at the age of 32. Not only was Alexander the Great a superb general and soldier, but also a brilliant economist as well. One of the reasons for the success of his empire was the fact that the economy was based on silver and gold, dug from mines in dozens of different lands, which were minted, by hand, into coinage. We offer a nice Very Fine silver Tetradrachm of Alexander the Great at only...

In Memory of St. Stephen

Ford Drive - "My Dollar is Paid" Union Button

This 1937-1938 pin-back button was issued to members of the United Automobile Workers (UAW) who contributed $1 towards the campaign to organize labor unions at the Ford Plant in Rochester, New York. Henry Ford staunchly resisted allowing unionization of his workers even after General Motors and Chrysler relented. There were stories of company espionage, intimidation and even violence against union organizers, which was eventually exposed by a local photographer who witnessed and photographed as many as forty Ford security personnel attacking union workers as they passed out leaflets. While Ford officials denied the thugs were their employees, the Ford Company finally recognized the UAW in 1941. This oval pinback measuring 1" x 1/2" is an amazing piece of American history and can be yours for only...

The Nomination of John Fitzgerald Kennedy

The Democratic National Convention was held at the Los Angeles Memorial Sports Arena from July 11-15, 1960. The Democrats, who had not been represented in the White House since Harry Truman's administration, felt they needed a fresh face. In the week prior to the convention, Adlai Stevenson II, the party's nominee in 1952 and 1956, announced his candidacy, but his landslide defeats in both elections (against Eisenhower) left party leaders doubting he could win in 1960. When the convention was over, it was John F. Kennedy who walked away with the nomination, winning on the first ballot with 806 votes. From the 1960 D.N.C., we offer a genuine ticket stub used for admittance to the convention. Highly collectible and in excellent condition, this historic piece is priced at only...

Xin Dynasty 2000 Year Old Chinese Coin

The Xin Dynasty (9 A.D. to 23 A.D.) was created when Wang Mang killed the previous ruler, 13 year old Emperor Ping, with poisoned wine.

Mang was considered by some an influential leader who introduced modernistic ideas of both public and private economies, outlawed slavery and introduced income tax during his short rule. He also strived to simplify and modernize the monetary system by demonetizing all previous coinage and had these copper/bronze "cash" coins produced. These quarter sized coins with a square hole in the center were convenient to use and were contemporary with the Roman Imperial coinage of Augustus and Tiberius. We offer nice examples of this 2,000 year old coin for only...

Marilyn Monroe Fan Club Button

The American actress Marilyn Monroe was born Norma Jeane Mortenson on June 1st, 1926. Born in Los Angeles, California, she spent most of her childhood in orphanages and foster homes. Foster parents would frequently send her by herself to the movies to get rid of her for the day. At the age of 5, she knew she wanted to be an actress. Married for the first time at age 16, she made her first movie at the age of 21. Popular movies as "Some Like it Hot", "Gentlemen Prefer Blonds" and "Bus Stop" made her a top box office draw, but personal heartbreak and two more failed marriages (sports superstar Joe DiMaggio and playwright Arthur Miller) took their toll and Marilyn was found dead in her Brentwood, California home on August 5th, 1962. We remember Marilyn with this commemorative 3 inch Fan Club Button, light blue and featuring Marilyn at her most beautiful. Yours for only ...

A Piece of Ancient Roman Wardrobe in Your Hands!

Ancient Romans were known to wear flowing togas and capes. These garments were fastened by a fibula, also known as a brooch. Made of bronze and fashioned as an early safety pin, these typically consisted of four different parts (the bridge, pin, spring and hinge), these pieces of craftsmanship represented an improvement on the Neolithic straight pin which was less secure and could fall out. There were hundreds of different fibula designs and many were specific to status, class or military rank. We believe our collection to be from the 2nd century A.D., pins are intact (but stationary due to age). Colored a dark patina, these are of various styles, measuring from approximately 1.25 inches to 2 inches. Due to extremely limited supply, get the pin of our choice only...

Eubolia Hestiaia Silver Tetradrachm

The Greek city of Hestiaia was located on the Island of Eubolia, the largest Greek island after Crete. The Island of Eubolia was in control of a large and fertile coastal plain which had produced a bountiful harvest of grapes and other crops for thousands of years. Hestiaia was named after a beautiful nymph who was worshipped as the city's goddess. This hand struck coin from the 3rd century B.C. features the wreathed bust of the goddess while the reverse depicts the nymph seated on the prow of a galley, and holding a naval standard reflecting the city's importance as a commercial seaport. President Herbert Hoover Stickpin (1932)

The Presidential Election of 1932 was held during the Great Depression. The Republicans chose the incumbent President Herbert Hoover as their candidate and the Democrats countered with New York Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. With unemployment at over 20% in 1932, Hoover had virtually no chance of winning a second term. On November 8, 1932 Roosevelt won the election with a popular vote advantage of over 7 million; the largest percentage margin ever for a Democratic candidate! This landslide vote was also complimented by electoral vote advantage of 472-59. We have just purchased a small group of 3/4 inch bronze stickpins for Hoover's 1932 presidential bid. Given to contributors of Hoover's campaign by the Morgan County, Colorado Republican Committee, the obverse of this great political piece features a Republican elephant with the caption of "Stick to Hoover" and the excuse caption of "None Could Have Done Better". Grading Gem Brilliant Uncirculated, this over eight decade old stickpin is priced at only...

President William Jefferson Clinton

The year 1976 marked the beginning of William Jefferson Clinton's political career. That year, he became the Attorney General of Arkansas. Setting his sights higher, he ran for Governor of the state, and was victorious. Two years later, in 1980, he ran for re-election but was defeated. But Clinton, who would later become known as "The Comeback Kid", didn't let defeat stop him. He learned from his mistakes and ran in the next gubernatorial election. He won that election and the next four elections for governor. In 1992, while many prominent Democrats decided to sit out the presidential race because of President Bush's exceptional public approval numbers, Clinton chose to throw in his hat. Later that year, at the D.N.C., he was nominated on the first ballot with 3,372 votes as the Democratic presidential candidate. In the November election (1992) he went on to defeat the Republican incumbent President George Bush and four years later won re-election by easily defeating Bob Dole. Although his administrations were plagued with various scandals and an impeachment proceeding, somehow Clinton was always able to land on his feet. In the end, "Slick Willie" prevailed. From Clinton's two inaugurations, we have been able to find some very "Presidential Items" that we can offer as follows:

Chicago Times- Shirley Temple Club Button

Shirley Temple (April 23rd, 1928- February 10th, 2014) was a popular child star in the 1930's. She made her first movie "Bright Eyes" at age 3 which was written specifically for her age and talents. The movie featured the song "On the Good Ship Lollypop" and made Shirley a box office star. Rumors followed her throughout her childhood that because she was so talented (and also due to the fact she was never missing any baby teeth during her constant presence on the silver screen) that she was in fact a small 30 year old adult. Her popularity waned in early adulthood, so she started a remarkable political career, running for Congress, and becoming the Ambassador to Ghana and Czechoslovakia. Hitler Youth Uniform Button

Adolph Hitler felt it was extremely important to "influence" the thinking of Germany's youth and he was able to accomplish systemic mind corruption through his "Hitler Youth" program, also known as Hitlerjugend. Hitler viewed youth as "Aryan Supermen" and recognized their place in the future of his infamous Third Reich. Under the Hitler Youth program, youngsters at a very young age were instructed on both anti-church thinking and anti-Semitism. Rather than academia, they were instructed in physical and military training. The Hitlerjugend maintained training academies comparable to preparatory schools, where programs were designed to nurture future Nazi Party leaders. All of this thankfully came to an end in 1945, with the defeat of Germany. From the "spoils" of the Third Reich, we have obtained a limited number of Hitler Youth uniform buttons. Brown in color and made of bakelite, the obverse of each button possesses the letters HJ (Hitlerjugend) and DJ (Deutsches Jungvolk) in a tortoise-shell design. The reverse is RZM marked and is holed for threading. We offer this button, reminiscent of a dark period in human history, as follows:

One Button ... $7.95
Ten Buttons ... $69.50

"WWII Era "Pin-Up" Mutoscope Cards

These beautifully designed full color World War II era "Pin-Up" Mutoscope cards were produced in the U.S.A. in the early 1940's by the International Mutoscope Reel Company, and were dispensed by the vending machines at the price of 2 cents each! Each 5.25" x 3.25" card is in superb mint condition and is housed in an archival holder. We offer the following cards:

I'm in a Class by Myself ... $9.95
The Padlock Was My Own Idea ... $9.95
Both cards ... $18.95

WWII German P.O.W. Camp Currency

In many of the prisoner of war camps within WWII Germany, the main unit of barter was cigarettes, however in some camps German P.O.W. currency was issued. Known as "lagergeld," which translates "camp money", these notes were issued by the High Command of German Military Forces (Oberkommando Der Wehrmark). This P.O.W. camp money was given out to the captured Allied officers only. Other ranks did not receive these allowances. Since the possession of real German currency was forbidden within the camp, these P.O.W. notes were the only accepted paper money "currency". Due to a very fortunate purchase, we are able to offer two different note denominations, a one Reichspennig and ten Reichspennig. Used from 1939-1945, these Crisp Uncirculated notes are extremely scarce.

One Reichspennig Note .... $39.50      Ten Reichspennig Note ...$49.50
Both Notes ... $79.50

Ay Chihuahua!

Mexico's revolutionary period began in 1910. It ended upon the adoption of a constitution and the election of a Congress in 1917. The 1910-1917 Revolution was fought to destroy the reign of Porfirio Diaz, who had seized power in 1877. Having no national currency because of the Revolution, the state of Chihuahua issued a decree on February 10, 1914, authorizing the printing of its own currency. These colorful Mexican Revolutionary Notes were issued by the state of Chihuahua in June 1915, and feature the portraits of two revolutionary heroes, Madero and Gonzales. We just purchased a small cache of notes in Very Good or better condition, that we can offer as follows:

One Peso ... $4.95
Five Pesos ... $4.95
Ten Pesos ... $4.95
Twenty Pesos ... $4.95
All four notes .... $16.95

Token To Paradise

In Honolulu during the 1950's you needed bus tokens to get around town. Since these tokens featured a hula dancer, many tourists took them home as souvenirs. This caused a token shortage in Hawaii and these were soon replaced with a less exciting design. Because of this the "Hula" tokens immediately became collectors items. In 1967 these tokens cataloged for $45.00 each. But, while supplies last you can purchase these Uncirculated 1951 tokens for less than the price of a bus ride.

WWII Era "Community Chest" Window Label

The community chest was a fundraising organization that collected money from local businesses and workers and distributed it to community projects. The first community chest (Community Fund) was founded in 1913 by the Federation for Charity and Philanthropy. We offer the World War II era community chest patriotic flag window label, which proudly states, "We gave the American way voluntarily". Colored red, white and blue, this near mint label measures approximately 4" x 5.5" and is housed in an archival holder.

1957 Official Inaugural Program

After two consecutive presidential victories (1952, 1956) over his Democratic rival, Adlai Stevenson, Dwight D. Eisenhower was ready to be sworn in for his second term as president of the United States. From this event, held in Washington, D.C., on January 21, 1957, we are able to offer the official program of the 43rd Inauguration. The front of and back covers of this program deserve special mention. The front cover displays a drawing of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, which was graciously donated by Norman Rockwell, one of America's foremost artists of the time. The back cover gives us special inspiration, the President's Prayer. The inside 48 pages includes a detailed listing of Inaugural events and ceremonies, along with articles on Eisenhower and Nixon. There are even articles on former Presidents Herbert Hoover, George Washington and the first Republican President Abraham Lincoln. Add stories on the first families, plus a host of pictures, events and historical facts, and you have a great inaugural program. Even better yet, this inaugural program is in Excellent condition and priced at only...

"I Like Ike" License Plate

The year was 1956, a presidential election year. As in the previous election (1952), it was the Republican incumbent and World War II General, Dwight D. Eisenhower against his Democratic opponent Adlai Stevenson. When the votes were counted on November 6, Ike would be victorious again, defeating Stevenson by over 9 million popular votes with an electoral advantage of 457-73. From this 1956 election, we offer this unique "I Like Ike" license plate. Sponsored by the committee to re-elect the President, this approximately 12" x 6" license plate is constructed on thick paper stock and colored red, white and blue. Civil War Newspapers

The American Civil War was fought from April 12, 1861 to May 9, 1865. Seven southern slave states (South Carolina, Mississippi, Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana and Texas followed by Virginia, Arkansas, North Carolina and Tennessee) individually declared their secession from the United States and formed the Confederate States of America. The war which was fought primarily over the issue of slavery lasted just over four years with a combined cost of lives of approximately 625,000 and over 411,000 wounded. From this grievous era of our country's history we offer authentic newspapers highlighting daily battles and events as they unfolded. We offer the following newspapers, each measuring approximately 16" x 22". Considering their age, the quality is fairly decent.

The Dutch Duit

The Dutch East India Company (Vereenigde Oost-Indische Compagnie. VOC) was established in 1602. Besides being the world's first multinational corporation, it was also the first to issue stock, and by 1669, it was the richest corporation the world had ever seen. The Dutch East India Company was the first "megacorporation"; it had the power to wage war, imprison convicts, negotiate treaties and even coin money. The Dutch duit carrying the monogram of the Dutch East India Company circulated throughout Dutch Indonesia and even in the Americas. These 7/8" duits feature the "VOC" arms of the Dutch East India Company, date in the 1700's, and were found buried in the ground in Ceylon, probably when the British invaded that country. In Good or better condition with signs of cleaning, these Dutch duits of the "VOC" are an important part of two centuries of Central Asian commerce.

Odd Denomination Notes From Ohio

One dark and stormy night in 1819, a small band of local hoodlums broke into the offices of Ezra Griswold, a tavern owner and entrepreneur in the Ohio frontier town of Worthington. The crooks used Griswold's own printing press to run off a batch of private scrip notes.

Griswold decided to replace his original series of scrip notes with an entirely new issue of high quality notes, ordered from the prestigious Philadelphia engraving firm of Murray, Draper & Fairman. His order specified 50¢, 25¢, 12.5¢ and 6.25¢ denominations. The unusual denominations were needed because coins were rarely encountered on the frontier. Change notes circulated along with a small supply of Spanish eight reales and other assorted foreign coins and tokens. Each eight reales equalled one U.S. silver dollar. Two reales, or "two bits" were equivalent to a U.S. quarter dollar. One bit equalled twelve and a half cents. The Niles Register at the time stated that Griswold had over $25,000 worth of notes at the height of his career. Nearly 170 years later the notes showed up at the American Numismatic Association Convention in Pittsburgh, in the hands of an Ohio dealer. We were fortunate to purchase a small quantity of these notes at a favorable price and can pass the savings on to you.

"Button Your Lips Harry!"

Harry S. Truman, our 33rd President, served most of Franklin D. Roosevelt's term (1945-1949) and four years of his own (1949-1953), so in March 1952, feeling he had served two full terms, he announced that he would not seek re-election. He urged Adlai Stevenson to run for the office and promised him his full support. Four years later (1956), Stevenson was again a candidate for the Democratic nomination, however, this time Truman came out in support of the liberal New York Governor W. Averell Harriman. In a protest to Truman's decision, and in hopes of silencing him, the Stevenson campaign issued this comical 2.5" red, white and black political button. Declaring "I'm for Stevenson", this button displays a caricature of Harry Truman (with lips buttoned) and the caption "How We'd Like Harry". Stevenson would go on to win the Democratic nomination in 1956, and by doing so, he did eventually receive Truman's blessing and support, however, this button and its statement remain a part of political history.

President Theodore Roosevelt

Theodore Roosevelt was best known as the Commander of Rough Riders during the Spanish-American War, however, his political career actually started before and continued after the war. It began in 1882 with his election to the New York Assembly. He was also a member of the U.S. Civil Service Commission (1889-95), President of the New York City Police Board (1895-7), Assistant Secretary of the Navy (1897-8) and Governor of New York (1898-1900). In 1900, President McKinley chose Roosevelt to be his running mate in the Presidential election, a position which was achieved with McKinley's victory. Roosevelt's Vice Presidential role was short lived, as he became President on September 14, 1901, following the assassination of President McKinley. In 1904, Theodore Roosevelt was nominated and ran for President on his own right. We offer this genuine flag stick pin from this campaign, picturing Roosevelt on one side and his Vice Presidential choice, Charles Fairbanks, on the other. This flag stick pin, made of thick corrugated paper, is actually shaped like a flag. This over a century old campaign item (1904) is in virtually mint condition and is extremely scarce. Motorcycle Coin Sets

Yes, you read it correctly. Actual coins shaped like motorcycles used since the 1950's! This complete set of six different motorcycle one dollar face value coins was released by the Federal Republic of Somalia. Dated 2007, each Brilliant Uncirculated coin has been struck in copper-nickel and then layered in .999 silver. The obverse of each piece displays the Somali coat of arms, the date (2007), and the denomination ($1.00). The reverse designs each feature a different motorcycle, expertly enameled in a minimum of two distinct colors! These very detailed coins (even down to the spokes!) are available as a set only. All six coins can be yours for only...

German WWII Era N.S.V. Membership Pin

The National Socialist People's Welfare Organization, or N.S.V., was established in 1933, shortly after the Nazi Party took power in Germany. Headed by Erich Hilgenfeldt, who was appointed by Joseph Goebbels, it became one of the largest Nazi Group Organizations, and by 1939 it was second only to the German Labor Front. During World War II, the N.S.V. was expanded to handle more governmental responsibilities, especially in the areas of child and youth labor. Operational during Germany's dark Third Reich, we offer a membership pin of the N.S.V. measuring approximately 6/10 inch. In excellent condition, we have priced this pin at only...

Michael Dukakis For President- 1988

The Presidential Election of 1988 pitted the Republican George Bush against the Democrat Michael S. Dukakis. When the votes were tallied on November 8, 1988, Bush would win with an almost 8 million popular vote advantage and an electoral margin of 315. Political buttons of George Bush's 1988 Presidential campaign are fairly common, however this is not the case with Dukakis buttons. They tend to be more pricey and more difficult to find. We offer a five piece set of Dukakis buttons for your consideration. Priced individually, this set would sell for $13.75. We offer all five near mint to mint condition buttons for only...

American Protectorate

The American Protectorate Brand of cigars commemorates the Monroe Doctrine with a portrait of our fifth President, James Monroe, whose legacy includes protection of the Americas from European colonization. Surrounded by a rich red background encircled in embossed gold leaf over a map of the Atlantic, Monroe highlights this outer cigar box label. Measuring 4.5" x 4.5" and in near mint to mint condition, it can be yours for only...

French Indo-China 5¢ Pieces

French Indo-China was made up of the protectorates of Annam (Vietnam), Tonkin, Cambodia, Laos and the colony of Cochin-China. The principal cities were Saigon, Haiphong, Vientiane, Phnom Penh and Hanoi. For circulation in this region, the Republic of France issued these ornately designed nickel alloyed five-cent pieces. Minted in the 1920's and 1930's, these obsolete coins grade Very Fine or better and are available as follows:

Herbert Hoover

Herbert Hoover was the Republican presidential choice in 1928. He ran a very successful campaign, defeating his Democratic rival Alfred E. Smith, with a popular vote margin of over 6 million votes and an electoral advantage of 444 to 87. In his attempt for re-election, which occurred during the "Great Depression", he was soundly defeated in the 1932 Presidential election by Franklin D. Roosevelt, losing by over 7 million popular votes and an electoral disadvantage of 59 to 472. From Hoover's 1928 and 1932 campaigns we offer the following political items:

Jesse Jackson For President (1988)

Not many people realize that the Reverend Jesse Jackson was a main contender for President within the Democratic Party. At the Democratic National Convention held in Atlanta in July 1988 Jackson received 1,218 votes on the first ballot, finishing in 2nd place behind Michael Dukakis. We offer a comprehensive seven piece collection promoting Jesse Jackson's quest for the White House. As pictured, five of the buttons picture the candidate. Measuring from 1.75" to 2.25", this collection sold individually would bring well over $20.00. We offer all seven buttons in near mint to mint condition for only...

Identical "Lucky 8" Numbered Quartet

The number "8" has great significance in many of the world's religions including Christianity, Judaism, Buddhism and Islam. In China and many other Asian cultures, eight is considered very lucky. So popular is the number 8 that in Hong Kong $640,000 was paid for a license plate with that number! We were elated when we were offered a group of United States $1.00 and $10.00 Federal Reserve notes starting with six consecutive 8's followed by two spares other than eight. To make things even better, these notes have identical serial numbers! You will receive three Crisp Uncirculated $1.00 notes dated 2009, one from District 6 (Atlanta, Georgia) and two from District 12 (San Francisco, California), plus a 2013 $10.00 note from District 2 (New York, New York.) 1994 South African Ballot Featuring Nelson Mandela

This ballot was printed for the April 27, 1994, Republic of South Africa presidential election. The Independent Electoral Commission, which supervised the election, printed ballots for use within South Africa and for South Africans residing abroad. Unused ballots were returned to the Commission after the election. Considerable thought went into the design of the ballot to reduce the risk of counterfeiting. Specifically, each ballot is individually numbered and printed in varying ink colors to form the background of the ballot. Also, notice the very fine print which follows the vertical border of the ballot. This too carries the IEC acronym. Using color printing for the logos of the various parties and the pictures of their respective candidates was an additional measure used by the Commission to prevent possible fraud. These ballots were printed in each of the eleven official languages of the Republic of South Africa. The Inkatha Freedom Party was added to the ballot via a special sticker after the Party's last minute decision to participate in the election.

Hawaii Notes!

The U.S. Government printed these notes for use in Hawaii and the Pacific during World War II. The reason the government printed these special notes was in the event that Hawaii or any of the Islands were taken over by the enemy, they could quickly distinguish these from regular notes. In the event of an invasion they would be devalued thus making them worthless to the enemy. They were easily distinguished from regular notes because of the large overprint "HAWAII" on the reverse and the fact that the front of the bill had brown seals and serial numbers. Use of any other currency in these areas was forbidden by law. Soon after they were issued, in June of 1942, they quickly became the only circulating currency in these areas. Fortunately these notes never had to be devalued and today offer a glimpse into history. We offer nice circulated VG or better notes in the following denominations...

President Grover Cleveland Ribbon (1888)

This woven multi-colored ribbon was produced by the Thomas Stevens Company of Coventry England in 1887 for incumbent Grover Cleveland's presidential bid in 1888. Measuring approximately 2.5 x 4", this ribbon pictures the candidate in black and white along with an eagle, two crossed American flags and a shield colored red, white, blue and gold. Although Cleveland won the popular vote in 1888, his Republican opponent Benjamin Harrison won the electoral vote 233- 168 and thus the election. Four years later (1892) Cleveland defeated Harrison thus becoming the first United States President to serve two non- consecutive terms (1885-1889 and 1893-1897). We offer this stunning Cleveland presidential ribbon in near mint to mint condition for only...

"El Cazador"

On January 11, 1784, the Spanish brigantine of war, El Cazador, sailed from Vera Cruz, Mexico, to New Orleans carrying 480,000 pesos of newly minted silver coins.

The King of Spain, Carlos III (1759-1788), had intended the immense cargo of silver coins on board El Cazador to be used to redeem the nearly worthless Spanish paper currency then in circulation in Spanish-owned Louisiana. El Cazador never made its destination. The vessel and her crew sank into the winter seas, disappearing without a trace. Without these silver coins to solidify the Spanish monetary system in colonial North America, the King of Spain was forced to sell or trade Louisiana. In 1800, a reluctant King Carlos IV (1788-1808) conveyed Louisiana to France's Napoleon. Three years later, in 1803, Emperor Napoleon sold Louisiana to President Thomas Jefferson for $15 million. The demise of the El Cazador changed the course of U.S. history. On August 2, 1993, the wrecksite of El Cazador was discovered by Captain Jerry Murphy of the fishing vessel "Mistake", 209 years after sinking into the ocean.

We offer an authentic sea salvaged Spanish 1/2 Reale treasure coin from the wreckage of the "El Cazador", housed in an attractive presentation holder.

President Taft Cigar Bands

The history of cigar bands dates back to the 1830's. Gustave Bock, a Dutch immigrant who owned a cigar factory in Cuba, is credited for being the first to place a paper band around his cigars for advertising purposes. As decades followed, printing methods improved and by the late 19th/early 20th century, ornate embossed bands were being made by highly regarded commercial artists. Produced in the 1910's, we offer cigar bands recognizing our 27th President, William Howard Taft (1909-1913). Advertising the Taft Perfecto, No. VII, these colorful cigar bands are available as follows:

Grape Crate Labels

In the early 1900's (primarily 1900-1930) grape-packaging houses used very ornate multi-colored crate labels to identify their products. Many of these labels reflected such themes as the California climate, the Spanish influence on California, flowers, birds along with a host of other topics. Due to cheaper methods, product labeling such as this began its decline in the 1950's. We offer a collection of five different grape crate labels, including the Royal Flush Label as pictured, all in near mint to mint condition.

An Enduring American Icon

John Wayne was born Marion Mitchell Morrison (May 26, 1907- June 11, 1979) and is considered one of the top box office draws of all time. Born in Iowa, he moved with his family to California, where a local fireman dubbed him "Little Duke" as he was smaller than his huge Airedale Terrier named Duke. His popularity was so great, that during his visit to America in 1975, Japan's Emperor Hirohito insisted in meeting John Wayne as the symbolic representation of his country's former enemy. "Tickler Inside"

Here is a great marketing piece from the 1890's. On the outside envelope are the words "Tickler Inside". If you are curious enough, you will open the 5.5" x 3" envelope to find out what the tickler is. When this is done, you find a feather attached to a small sheet of paper stating "Here is something that will tickle you" with instructions to look inside. If you are still curious, you unfold the paper to discover an ad from the North Adams Shoe Company from North Adams, Massachusetts, promoting their "enormous" stock of footwear. Last but not least is the company's promise that "if you tickle us with an order, we will tickle you with nice goods". This great 19th century marketing piece has survived time and is very well preserved.

The "Sultan of Swat"

The "Babe's" amazing record of 714 home runs remained intact for decades until it was broken by Hank Aaron in 1974. Babe Ruth slugged more than 40 homers eleven times in his career. Known as the "Sultan of Swat", he was also a superb fielder, a daring runner and a record-setting southpaw pitcher. To recognize his "golden" career, this gold plated baseball card was issued in 1994. Picturing the "Babe", this commemorative card measures approximately 2.5" x 3.5", and is housed in a protective hard plastic holder. Priced to sell at only...

New York Daily Times Newspapers (1856)

The year is 1856, Franklin Pierce is President, believe it or not, the Vice President is William Rufus De Vane King. The United States three years earlier had completed the Gadsden Purchase (1853) buying a 45,535 square mile strip of land (now Southernmost Arizona and New Mexico) from Mexico for $10 million. The Kansas-Nebraska Act of 1854 and Ostend Manifesto 1834 were now a part of history. To keep you abreast of the times, we offer an 8 page newspaper entitled the "New York Daily Times". In fairly nice condition and dating January to June 1856, these large 16" x 22" newspapers will keep you up with the happenings in this Pre-Civil War period...

A Tribute to Abraham Lincoln

The assassination of Abraham Lincoln was one of the last major events of the American Civil War. It took place on April 14, 1865, at the Ford's Theatre while President Lincoln was attending a performance of "Our American Cousin". He died on April 15, 1865. Lincoln's assassin was an actor and Confederate sympathizer named John Wilkes Booth. In an attempt to overthrow the Federal government, Booth had planned to assassinate President Lincoln, Vice President Johnson and Secretary of State Seward. Although Booth succeeded in killing Lincoln, the larger plot failed. Johnson's potential assassin left Washington without incident, and Seward survived his attacker and recovered from his wounds. As a tribute to the fallen president, we offer a memorial card showing Abraham Lincoln being welcomed into heaven by George Washington. This apotheosis card, measuring approximately 2.5" x 4", is available in a few different styles. This item was issued shortly after Lincoln's assassination and is 150 years old. It grades XF or better and is in extremely limited supply...

Carter-Mondale vs Ford-Dole (1976)

For the Democrats, there were twelve candidates for president; most notable were Jimmy Carter, Jerry Brown and George Wallace. For the Republicans, there were just two candidates: Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan. At the D.N.C., held in New York City, Jimmy Carter was the nominee. At the R.N.C., held in Kansas City, Gerald Ford beat out Ronald Reagan with a narrow margin of victory. In the November Presidential election, Carter was victorious with a popular vote advantage of 1,683,247 and an electoral margin of 57. From this election, we offer 1.75" jugate buttons from both parties.

The Arbeitsbuch – A Mandatory Employment Workbook

For Adolph Hitler's Nazi regime to function, one of the key ingredients was controlling the masses. To control Germany's labor force during the Third Reich, Hitler initiated the Arbeitsbuch, a mandatory employment record book. Each Arbeitsbuch listed the name of the individual along with pertinent information such as date of birth and birthplace. From this point, the Arbeitsbuch became a government-mandated resume. When a German citizen took a new job, his/her employer wrote down information in the Arbeitsbuch about the job and its location. This way, the government could also track movement of its citizenry. No German could hold a job without showing an Arbeitsbuch and penalties were in force for violators. We offer this German "Internal Passport" used during the Nazi era. Each booklet contains 38 pages, measures 5.75 inches by 4.25 inches, and is in excellent condition. Now approximately 70 years old, this Arbeitsbuch is priced at only...

“The Father of Modern Day Conservatism”

Barry Goldwater is known as “Mr. Conservative” and as “The Father of Modern Day Conservatism”. His belief was that the whole essence of conservatism was to make progress based on proven values of the past. He was a firm advocate of the Constitution and of the free enterprise system and an economy free of government regulation. His political career began in 1949 when he won a seat on the Phoenix City Council and ended with his retirement from the Senate in 1987. In 1964, he was the Republican candidate for the presidency. Although he lost the election, many prominent Republicans and Democrats have referred to Barry Goldwater as a man ahead of his time and have verbalized that he would have been a better presidential selection than Johnson. From Goldwater’s 1964 Presidential campaign, we offer a comprehensive collection consisting of a Goldwater “Handbook for Victory” plus a minimum of fifteen different picture and non-picture political buttons ranging in size from .75 inch to 3.5 inches, including a “flasher” button. German Currency?

Hugo Stinnes, a German industrialist, was born in Mulheim, Germany in 1870. The son of a Westphalian mine owner, he inherited his father's substantial business interests in 1880, at the age of 20. Using this money, Stinnes funded his own company producing and distributing coal. Taking the profits from this company, he expanded his interest to the eventual control of mines, foundries, shipping and paper mills. He owned vast amounts of land in South America, including the largest oil concession in Argentina, and by World War I, he had become one of Germany's largest suppliers of raw material for the war effort. Politically, he joined with Alfred Hugenberg in 1919 to establish the German Nationalist Party, and in 1920, he was elected to the Reichstag. Stinnes' ownership of more than 60 newspapers gave him the ability to push this political viewpoints to the masses by controlling the press. After the war, Stinnes took advantage of the German inflationary currency actually printed by Hugo Stinnes! These notes, carrying the Stinnes' name of Hugo Stinnes Lines and featuring Stinnes' own company flag, were accepted not only as currency on his shipping vessels, but supposedly as circulatory German currency! The Presidential Election of 1856

As the Democrats convened in Cincinnati, Ohio in June 1856, James Buchanan was the front-runner for the nomination, ahead of incumbent President Franklin Pierce and Senator Stephen Douglas of Illinois. When the final votes were tallied, Buchanan was nominated and John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky was chosen for Vice President. In the November election, Buchanan defeated his Republican rival John Fremont by a popular vote advantage of just over 500,000 votes and an electoral margin of 60. From this presidential election held almost 158 years ago, we offer a genuine electoral ticket promoting James Buchanan and John Breckinridge. This ticket displays jugate portraits of both candidates flanking an inscription, "Our Principle: The Constitution. The sovereignty and equality of the States; the repeal of the Missouri restriction; the people of the territories in forming state governments to adopt their own institutions." Below is a list of electors from each congressional district in Virginia, and the instruction "write your name on the back of the ticket". On the reverse, the name of the voter is signed in ink, indicating that it was actually taken to a polling place and cast as a ballot on Election Day. This electoral ticket (ballot) ranks as one of the most elaborate. It was designed by the engraver Ritchie & Dunnivant of Richmond, Virginia, who later produced currency for the Confederate government. We offer this historic electoral ticket (ballot), which reminds the voter that Election Day is Tuesday, November 4, 1856. It measures approximately 4.5" x 7.25", is hand trimmed and in very nice condition. This great political memento is priced at only...

L.B.J. For the U.S.A.

With the assassination of John F. Kennedy in Dallas on November 22, 1963, Lyndon Baines Johnson became our 36th President. In August 1964 he was nominated by the Democratic Party to be its Presidential candidate. In a very lopsided election, he defeated Republican rival Barry Goldwater and served his own four-year term as President of the United States. We have just purchased a small group of full-color "flasher" buttons picturing L.B.J. for the U.S.A. We have two sizes available:

- 2.5 Inch "Flasher" Button ... $7.95
- 3.0 Inch "Flasher" Button ... $8.95

The Abraham Lincoln Presidential Election Ballots (1864)

The presidential campaign of 1864 was an interesting one. The Civil War was still raging and Abraham Lincoln was running for re-election. Although Lincoln was a Republican, he chose Andrew Johnson, a southern Democrat from Tennessee, to be his running mate. He knew he needed the southern vote to win and Johnson was accepted in the south. For the Democrats their candidate was General George B. McClelland, who, ironically Lincoln had relieved of the Union Army command in 1862. When the vote was cast on November 8, 1864, Lincoln had beat McClelland with 55% of the popular vote and an electoral vote margin of 212 to 21. We have acquired a small quantity of genuine electoral tickets promoting Abraham Lincoln for President and Andrew Johnson for Vice President. Measuring 3.5" by 7", this paper ticket features a woodcut of the goddess Liberty with a nimbus of stars (one for each state), holding a sword emblazoned "Union". From Ohio, it lists electors for the state at large and for each congressional district. This ticket, which was used as an actual ballot and was taken to a polling place on election day. This great piece of history could easily fetch in excess of $200.00 but due to a very fortunate purchase, this 1864 Lincoln ticket (ballot) is available for only ...

The Racketeer Nickel

Soon after the 1883 nickel appeared, the omission of the word cents on the coin became a huge problem. The reverse design of the coin contained a large "V", but without the word "CENTS", con artists soon realized that they could gold plate the coins and pass them off as $5.00 gold pieces.

One of the most famous stories revolves around a man from Boston who invested $50 in new "V" nickels and had a friend of his, a jeweler, gold plate them for him. He would enter a store to make a purchase for 5c and not say anything (many things in those days cost a nickel: a good cigar, the daily newspaper and a loaf of bread, among them). He would place his gold plated nickel on the counter and make his purchase. If the clerk noticed it was only 5c, he would just leave with his purchase. But more times than not he would also leave with $4.95 in change. He was eventually caught, but the case was dismissed because the merchants actually cheated themselves, and there was no law against gold plating a nickel. Just after the trial the U.S. Mint authorized changing the reverse to include the word "CENTS". We offer nice gold plated VF-XF pieces of these "Racketeer Nickels".

Harry S. Truman – 33rd President

The life of Harry Truman, our 33rd President, was one of two extremes. As a youth, he was fragile and wore thick expensive glasses, and reportedly never got into a fistfight. According to Truman, "I was kind of a sissy. If there was any danger of getting into a fight, I always ran." His adult life was quite to the contrary. He matured and became supremely confident of his own judgment. He went on to become a judge, a U.S. Senator, Vice President and then President of the United States upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt. In 1948, few Democrats believed Truman could be elected president in his own right. In fact, many liberals, including Senator Claude Pepper of Florida and the sons of the late F.D.R., set out to dump Truman from the ticket. Truman was, however, unaffected, and he easily won nomination on the first ballot. In the presidential election, few believed that Truman could beat the Republican Dewey, but after the November 2, 1948, election, it was the confident Truman who was victorious to the surprise of many. Because Truman's campaign was so underfinanced, buttons of his campaign are quite scarce and are thus pricey. We usually offer this near mint 7/8" Truman-Barkley button for $49.50 but due to a special purchase, it can be yours for only ...

Never Elected President

Although he was "Commander in Chief" from 1974-1977, Gerald Ford was never elected President. He was chosen by President Nixon as his Vice President after the resignation of Spiro Agnew in October, 1973, and in less than a year, he became the nation's 38th President when Richard Nixon resigned on August 9, 1974. Upon becoming President, he reminded the American people that he was "A Ford and not a Lincoln". Although he was defeated for election for President in his own right (1976), he was complimented by his Democratic counterpart, Jimmy Carter, with this statement, issued in 1977: "For myself and for our nation, I want to thank my predecessor (Ford) for all he has done to heal our land." "The Honeymooners" Commemorative Button

The Honeymooners was an American television sitcom that aired 39 episodes from 1951 to 1956. The show, filmed on fixed sets within a Brooklyn apartment building, featured four principal characters: Ralph Kramden, a bus driver for the fictional Gotham Bus Company (played by Jackie Gleason); Alice Kramden, Ralph's wife (played by Pert Kelton- first 7 episodes and Audrey Meadows- last 32 episodes); Ed "Lillywhite" Norton, a New York sewer worker and Ralph's best friend, played by Art Carney; and Thelma "Trixie" Norton, Ed's wife and Alice's best friend, played by Joyce Randolph. From this very popular "oldies" sitcom, we offer a full color commemorative 1.75 inch "Honeymooners" button featuring Ralph (Jackie Gleason) and Alice (Audry Meadows). Fruit Crate Labels

The long history of these beautiful lithographic fruit crate labels began in the 1880's. As a means of advertising, growers pasted labels on the ends of wooden crates to identify the contents, place of origin and the packer's name. Primarily made in California, Oregon and Washington for oranges, lemons, apples and grapes, the use of these labels reached its peak in the 1940's. By the mid 1950's, after nearly 70 years of existence as advertising pieces, these beautiful and colorful labels along with their wooden crates were discontinued, replaced by pre-printed cardboard boxes. Through a very fortunate purchase, we are able to offer a selection of these attractive labels, all in near mint to mint condition and all over a half-century old. We have seen these same labels offered at antique shops at upwards of $20.00 each, but we can offer them to you at a tenth of this price in the

Confederate Bonds of 1861

These Confederate bonds represent the first series of bonds that were offered by the newly formed Confederate States of America. Only three days after their initial offering on April 20, 1861, the initial subscription of $5,000,000 had been sold along with $3,000,000 in over-subscriptions. The support, as expected, came primarily from the South, and from Southern banks in particular. Additional support later came from Europe, particularly England, which had an economic interest in the South. These initial bonds are much scarcer than ones which would be issued later. Initially backed by cotton, these Confederate bonds of 1861, with some interest receipts attached, are available in the following denominations:

- $500 Bond.....$159.50
- $1,000 Bond.....179.50

Nazi Germany National Pensions Bank Bonds

The history of the German National Pensions Bank dates back to 1850 when Prussian King Frederick William IV issued an order for its establishment. The original purpose of this bank was to enable rural peasants to become independent landowners. Those who received land were required to pay into a pension fund to pay off their debt. The original landowners were then compensated by the Prussian State from this fund in the form of interest bearing bonds. We have just purchased from a connection in Germany a group of cancelled bonds issued during the Third Reich by the German National Pensions Bank. Each bond is serial numbered, dated, has a printed signature and a designated face value. Paying an interest rate of 4%, each bond includes an embossed seal displaying the infamous German eagle and swastika. We offer the following Third Reich bonds, all housed in an archival plastic holder, as follows:

Russian Liberation Army

The Russian Liberation Army, known as R.O.A. (in Russian Cyrillic the letters appear as P.O.A.) or the Vlasov Army, was a group of predominantly Russian forces allied with Nazi Germany during World War II. The R.O.A. was organized by former Red Army General Andrey Vlasov, who attempted to unite all Russians in opposing the regime of Soviet leader Joseph Stalin. Amongst the volunteers were Soviet prisoners of war and Russian White Army members, some of which fought against communism during the Russian Civil War of 1917. The R.O.A. did not officially exist until the fall of 1944, after Heinrich Himmler persuaded a reluctant Hitler to permit the formation of ten Russian Liberation Army divisions. The first and only active combat the Russian Liberation Army undertook against the Red Army was on April 11, 1945. A victorious Red Army eventually captured General Vlasov and many of his men. The Soviet government labeled all R.O.A. soldiers as traitors. Vlasov and several other leaders of the R.O.A. were tried and hanged in Moscow. Repatriated R.O.A. soldiers were either sentenced to death or sent to a Gulag with a minimum sentence of ten years. We have just acquired two different items associated with the R.O.A. The first is a genuine 1.25 inch cap badge worn by Russian soldiers. This badge was issued in the Ukrainian colors of blue and gold with the trident symbol in the center. The second item is a genuine sleeve shield for R.O.A. soldiers. German WWII Labor Front Membership Booklet

The German Labor Front (Deutsche Arbeitsfront) was a National Socialist (Nazi) trade union that replaced all of the Weimar Republic trade unions. D.A.F. membership was theoretically voluntary, however, without it, finding work in any area of German industry or commerce would have been difficult. Membership in the D.A.F. required dues ranging from 15 Pfennig to 3 Reichsmark, depending on the category a member fell into. The Nazi regime raised a substantial amount of income from these dues, estimated at 300,000,000 Reichsmark just in 1934. We offer a genuine German WWII Labor Front Membership booklet for your consideration. Measuring approximately 4" x 6", this red booklet bears the symbol of the D.A.F. showing the infamous swastika within a gear. Comprised of 16 pages, each booklet lists the union member's name, birth date, city of birth and date of initial membership. Each booklet also includes monthly Nazi revenue stamps with cancellations. We offer this membership booklet in excellent condition for only...

portrait of the new president is a hand-signed signature, “Gerald R. Ford”. The historical text on the poster includes Ford’s oath of office followed by brief remarks: “My fellow Americans, our long national nightmare is over. Our Constitution works; our great Republic is a government of laws and not of men. Here, the people rule. But there is a Higher Power, by whatever name we honor Him, who ordains not only righteousness but love, not only justice but mercy. As we bind up the internal wounds of Watergate, more painful and more poisonous than those of foreign wars, let us restore the Golden Rule to our political process, and let brotherly love purge our hearts of suspicion and of hate. In the beginning, I asked you to pray for me. Before closing, I ask again for your prayers, for Richard Nixon and for his family...”

Barry Goldwater in '64

The election of 1964 pitted the Democrat Lyndon Baines Johnson against the Republican Barry Goldwater of Arizona. When the votes were counted on November 3, 1964, Goldwater only had 39% of the popular vote and an electoral count of only 52 (Johnson had 486). From this presidential campaign we offer two different buttons. The first is a 2.25" blue and white word button. The second button, picturing Barry Goldwater, shows the candidate without his “signature” glasses, measures 3.5" and is colored red, white and blue. We offer both buttons, now over 50 years old, for only...

Cigar Box Labels: Art and Americana!

Displaying a unique combination of both art and Americana, these outer box cigar labels of yesteryear offer a spectacular glimpse into a very flamboyant period in United States history. Produced as early as the 1870's and as late as the early 1930's, these brilliantly colored and lavishly designed cigar labels reflect the enthusiasm of a gilded age when attention to detail and pride of workmanship was uncompromised. Made during the zenith of cigar smoking in the United States, manufacturers designed these labels to advertise and promote their products. Using stunning colors, often embossed and richly highlighted with gold colored borders, the goal was to outshine the competition. Each of these labels measures approximately 4" x 4" and is a work of art suitable for framing. We have assembled groups of these beautifully designed outer box labels and have priced them at a small percentage of catalog values. These picture labels grade near mint to mint condition and will have a minimum catalog value of $10.00 each. Each mixture will be hand selected for quality and quantity and will contain labels of our choice. We guarantee you will be delighted with the selection.

The German Iron Cross

The Iron Cross was a military decoration of the Kingdom of Prussia, and later of Germany. It was established by King Frederick William III in 1813, and was first awarded to soldiers during the wars of liberation against Napoleon. Issued for battlefield bravery, this medal was also presented during the Franco-German war, the First World War and the Second World War. It was designed by Karl Friedrich Schinkel. It displays a four-pointed cross which signifies the cross borne by the Teutonic Knights of the 14th Century. WWII Allied Minefield Markers

Early 1942 marked a significant increase in the use of minefields and thus minefield markers. Minefields were used to create artificial obstacles in zones that had no natural defenses. Metal minefield markers like the one offered here were used to warn Allied U.S. and British troops of the existence of these minefields. Our research shows that these minefield markers were probably headed for North Africa where troops of British Lt. General Montgomery were battling Germany's General Rommel, better known as the "Desert Fox". An early conclusion of the North African campaign thankfully made the use of these particular markers unnecessary. This World War II allied minefield marker is triangular in shape with sharp protruding corners and is adorned by the traditional international symbol of death, the "skull and crossbones". Red in color, with white lettering, measuring approximately 12.75 inches across and 6.5 inches high and weighing approximately one pound, the uni-face sign is holed at the top. We were fortunate to have purchased two boxes of these Allied minefield markers of WWII that have remained in unopened cartons for seven decades! With your purchase of this minefield marker, we will include a scanned copy of the outside of the box stating the contents were metal M-2 markers. This wonderful relic of WWII is virtually Mint condition and is available for only ...

Confederate States of America "Bearer Bonds"

The outbreak of the War Between the States in the spring of 1861 raised immediate concern on the part of the newly formed Confederate government as to how the financial burden of the war was going to be paid. In order to attract investors, the Confederates raised money by selling bonds backed by cotton. Although there were some financial means in the South, many of these bonds were sold to supporters in Europe, and because of this overseas assistance, the South was able to hold out for four years against overwhelming odds. We offer these genuine "Bearer Bonds" of the Confederacy for your consideration. Each bond is in nice condition and includes some interest receipts. We offer the following denominations:

Herod the Great

Herod the Great was King of Judea when Jesus was born, and this bronze coin was issued under Herod's reign. Herod the Great was a significant figure in the early days of the New Testament. In an attempt to learn more of Jesus, Herod instructed the wise men to return to him after their visit to Bethlehem, only to be circumvented by divine intervention. He also ordered the massacre of the children of Bethlehem in order to kill Jesus, again only to be foiled when Jesus was taken to Egypt. The Berlin Airlift (1948-1949)

At the end of World War II, a defeated Germany was divided amongst the victors: the United States, the Soviet Union, Great Britain and France. The Soviet Union took control of the eastern half of Germany and the western half was divided amongst the U.S., Great Britain and France. Berlin was sliced into four parts, one half being Soviet-controlled and the rest divided amongst the U.S., Great Britain and France. The goal of this "Union of Governments" was to control and rebuild Berlin. The problem was that the Soviets had their own ideas, most of which concerned Soviet war reparations, German unification, currency and its own ideology. So tense became these differences, that Stalin ultimately ordered the "Western powers" out of the Eastern Zone (Soviet controlled Berlin). This move put a halt to all supplies going to East Berlin from the west. To prevent the starvation of thousands of civilians in Berlin, President Truman authorized a plan to supply Berlin by air. The airlift, which began on June 26, 1948, lasted until September 30, 1949. During this time, over 2.3 million tons of goods were delivered on 277,569 flights to Berlin. C-47 and C-54 aircraft alone traveled over 92 million miles making deliveries. To recognize these gallant efforts, we offer the Medal for Humane Action, which was issued by the U.S. to honor the more than 50,000 service personnel. Authorized by Congress on July 29, 1949, it was awarded to any member of the Armed Forces who served for 120 consecutive days with or in direct support of the Berlin Airlift.

Queen Nefertiti Terra Cotta Moulds

Akenaten (1368-1351 BC) and his wife Queen Nefertiti left Thebes (the ancient capital of Egypt) to found the new city of Akhetaten at Tell-el Amara in the desert of middle Egypt. The new city that was built was a marvel of advanced city planning. To brighten and color the plain stucco white-washed walls, vibrant frescos and intricately inlaid scenes composed of thousands upon thousands of faience inlays and tiles were made from these simple terra cotta moulds. Most of the personal jewelry of this era was made by the same process using these moulds. The technique was a simple one: first, a Nile clay mould was made from a master object, then was either low-fired or sun-baked. Second, a gritty paste was made up of ground quartz, feldspar, natron, water, etc. and was then pressed into the mould. The porosity of the terra cotta acted as a sponge to soak up the moisture and when almost dry, the finished impression could be popped out, glazed with various colors and fired in a kiln.

These moulds come from de-acquisition from museum excavations of the Germans in the early 1920's and 1930's and also from later French and English excavations in the 1960's. We have seen these moulds advertised elsewhere for as much as $180.00 each. Because of our direct European connections we have been able to eliminate the middlemen and can offer these to you at a tremendous savings. Over 3,000 years old, these moulds come with a certificate of authenticity.

This spectacular mixture of presidential political buttons starts with Inauguration Day buttons of the last six presidents: Carter, Reagan, Bush, Clinton, G.W. Bush and Barack Obama. In addition to this, you will receive a selection of buttons (all different) starting in the 1960's and continuing through the 2000's. Heavy in candidates from the past two decades, we will include many large, picture and colorful buttons. You will receive Democrats, Republicans, Independents and a generous selection of inaugural buttons. You will receive the jubilant victors as well as the disappointed runner-ups. In all, over 100 different near-mint to mint presidential campaign buttons, all priced at only...

Bushwacked!

These Bush bashing buttons are from the 2004 Presidential campaign. Covering a wide variety of issues, each button takes a pot shot at President George W. Bush. If you are a fan of Bush #43, you will shake your head. If you are not a fan, you will enjoy quite a few chuckles. A great example of "dirty politics", these buttons have been priced quite reasonably. Buttons are of our choice.

This multi-colored #2 broom label was produced by the Honolulu Broom Factory, a business that was established in 1923 when Hawaii was a U.S. Territory and not our 50th state. The logo of this attractive label was designed in 1935 and features a beautiful hula girl adorned only in a skirt and lei. In the background are palm trees and a volcanic mountain. We offer the original uncut version of this popular label which includes a white strip on the left side. Measuring approximately 3.75" x 5.5", this eight decade old label is in mint condition and is housed in an archival holder.

WW2 German Death Cards

These authentic WW2 German death notices were issued as a remembrance to German soldiers who were killed during the war. Known in German as "Sterbebilder", these paper cards show a photograph of the deceased soldier, usually in uniform, and contain some personal information. Since these cards were given as a prayer card at the soldier's funeral, the reverse often depicts religious themes. In contrast to WW1 cards, the German government decreed that a soldier's unit was never listed (for security purposes) and warned against listing a graphic cause of death. We offer these German WW2 death cards for only...

Beatles Play Money

The Beatles were a rock and pop band from Liverpool, England that was formed in 1960. The group consisted primarily of four different individuals: John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo Starr. They were so popular that over a billion of their records have been sold internationally and they have earned more number one albums than any other group. Rolling Stone Magazine ranked the Beatles number one on its list of 100 greatest stars of all time. Because of their tremendous success, all kinds of products were marketed using their name and images. We have just purchased two different types of Beatles "play money". Nonsensical in nature, both notes are from a hypothetical Treasury of the United States of Beatlemania. We offer a four Beatles note and a million dollar Beatles note for your consideration. The Confederate Presidential Election of 1861

The Confederate Presidential Election of 1861 was the first and only presidential election held in the Confederate States of America. Provisional President Jefferson Davis was elected to a six-year term (February 22, 1862 to February 22, 1868) as the first president of the C.S.A., receiving 47,057 popular votes (97%). He carried all eleven Confederate states and received 109 electoral votes. From this very historic period in our nation's past, we offer these genuine electoral tickets promoting Jefferson Davis of Mississippi for President and Alexander H. Stephens for Vice President. Each electoral ticket lists the electors for the state at large and for each congressional district. Each ticket is also signed in ink or in pencil on the reverse by a rebel voter, indicating that it was actually taken to a polling place and cast as a ballot on election day! We offer two different styles of electoral tickets (ballots), both printed on newsprint. The first is white in color and measures approximately 4.25" x 5". The second is blue in color and measures approximately 3.75" x 5.5". We have an extremely limited quantity of these historic electoral tickets (ballots), so don't delay your order! The condition is fairly nice, considering that they are over 150 years old!

The Legion Of Merit

The Legion of Merit award was established in 1942. Its original purpose was to honor foreign military personnel and to recognize members of the United States Armed Forces for a wide variety of contributions to the American war effort. Beginning in 1957, the Legion of Merit medal was expanded to include peacetime service.

After the Vietnam war, it was also awarded to certain officer ranks upon their retirement. Despite the numerous changes in criteria, this award ranks as the nation's second highest peacetime award.

Rebel With A Cause

Francisco Vicente Aguilera was born in Bayamo, Cuba, in 1821. He studied law and in 1841 he received his civil law degree. Born into a wealthy family, he received a large inheritance upon his mother's death. Aguilera was obsessed with Cuba gaining its independence from Spain, so he became a revolutionary, and along with Carlos Manuel de Cespedes and others, helped to start the Ten Years War (1868-1877). Achieving success, he was named Secretary of War (1869) and Vice President of the Republic (1870) under Cespedes. In 1871, he was sent to the United States to unite Cubans here. When Cespedes was deposed in 1873, Aguilera could not return to Cuba. Having exhausted his entire fortune "for the cause", Aguilera spent his final years living in poverty in New York, until his death in 1877. "Soupy Sales" Button

The late Soupy Sales was born Milton Supman in Franklinton, North Carolina, on January 8, 1926. He got his unusual nickname from his family. His older brothers had been nicknamed "Ham Bone" and "Chicken Bone". Young Milton was nicknamed "Soup Bone" which was later shortened to "Soupy". His surname "Sales" was chosen as a tribute to the comedian Chic Sale. Soupy Sales, a life-long comedian, is best known for his long running noontime children's television show which was produced in the late 1950's and early 1960's. Originally entitled 12 O'clock Comics, it was later known as the Soupy Sales Show. Improvised and definitely slapstick in nature, the Soupy Sales Show was a rapid-fire stream of sketches, gags and puns. Almost all resulted in "Soupy" receiving a pie in the face. It is estimated that "Soupy" had been hit by over 25,000 pies! From a connection in New York, we have been able to acquire a limited number of original "Soupy Sales" buttons. Each button measures three inches, was produced in black & white, and was copyrighted in 1965. Although slightly "scratchy", the overall condition is nice.

The "Progressive" Candidate of 1912

Theodore Roosevelt became our 26th President upon the death of William McKinley in 1901. In 1904, he ran against

Alton B. Parker and won the election in his own right by 2.5 million popular votes. Deciding on "retirement", Roosevelt chose not to run again. In 1908, William Taft was nominated and won in the November election. Disturbed by President Taft's conservative direction, Roosevelt again threw in his hat for President in the 1912 election. The Republicans had other plans, however, and they chose the incumbent Taft over Roosevelt. An infuriated Roosevelt bolted the Republican Party and became the "Progressive" or "Bull Moose" candidate, thus splitting the Republican Party and handing the election over to Wilson. Henry Wallace For President (1948)

Henry A. Wallace (1888-1965) began his political career as F.D.R.'s Secretary of Agriculture, serving from 1933-1940. He received real name recognition when Roosevelt chose him to be his vice president in 1940. In 1944, when Roosevelt decided to run for an unprecedented fourth term, there was overwhelming opposition within the party to retain Wallace as Vice President, so Roosevelt reluctantly dropped him from the ticket. He was appointed as Secretary of Commerce as compensation, a job he held for one year until he was fired by President Truman. Considered a leftist Democrat, he bolted the party and ran as the Progressive presidential candidate in the election of 1948. We offer a propaganda leaflet promoting the Wallace-Taylor ticket. Measuring approximately 6 inches by 6 inches, it blasts the "Demogops" (Democrats and G.O.P. Republicans) and offers Wallace as the "real choice". This leaflet, in very nice condition, is seldom offered and is priced at only...

Poland Honors its Remarkable Pope

Not many people know the life history of this remarkable man. The late Pope John Paul II was born Karol Joseph Wojtyla on May 18, 1920, in Wadowice, Poland. When elected Pope in 1978, he became the first Slav to head the Roman Catholic Church and the first non-Italian Pope since Pope Adrian VI in 1552. Before his ordination as a priest (1946), he was a theatre group member, a stone cutter, a published poet and a chemical company boiler tender. During World War II, he was very active in an underground Christian group that helped Jews escape the Nazis. Through a connection in Europe, we have acquired these Brilliant Uncirculated two Zlote pieces minted in the Pope's native homeland of Poland. Made of brass, this coin shows the late Pope looking at a silhouette of Saint Peter's Cathedral. We offer this memorial coin, dated 2005, for only...

Cuban Currency Collection

This four-piece currency collection from the Island of Cuba was issued around the time Fidel Castro came into power (1959). At this period in history the Cuban Peso was actually on par with the U.S. dollar. The American Banknote Company engraved each of these notes, which is world renowned for its quality workmanship. Each denomination is of a different hue and recognizes such Cuban notables as Aguilera, Marti, Gomez and De Cespedes. We offer this set of three different notes, mostly dating 1958-1960, and grading Very Fine or better.

Monte Carlo Gambling Chips

Out of all the gaming establishments in the world, the most famous is the casino at Monte Carlo. Located on the Mediterranean coast in the principality of Monaco, it began full operation in 1866 and was still in business over a century later. Recently, we received a call from a long time friend and supplier offering us a substantial quantity of genuine Monte Carlo gambling chips he had purchased decades ago. We bought the entire lot, which had actually been in use in Monte Carlo from the 1920's -1950's. Made of a "pre-plastic" material, some of these chips show minor warping, which is very common. We offer the following gambling chips for your consideration.

Over forty years have passed since Neil Armstrong, Michael Collins and Edwin Aldrin made their historic landing on the moon. The phrase "One small step for man, one giant leap for mankind" spoken by Neil Armstrong signaled to the world that the United States had accomplished what man has desired since the beginning of his existence—walking on the moon. To commemorate the Apollo XI moon landing, we offer a full color 1.75 inch button picturing all three astronauts. Entitled "America Salutes - First Men on the Moon", this button displays the July 20, 1969 landing date. Featuring a proud day in American history, we offer this button as follows:

America's Political Maverick

George Wallace gave President Kennedy fits during the Civil Rights Movement in 1963. Standing defiantly at the door of the State University in Alabama, he refused to allow admission of two black students. Kennedy was forced to send in the National Guard and only then did Governor Wallace step aside. Wallace was very headstrong and determined, so in 1968 he established the American Independent Party and ran as its Presidential candidate against Nixon and Humphrey. Although soundly defeated, he did receive almost 10 million votes. We offer a picture button of our choice and a five inch by three inch election card from George Wallace's 1968 Presidential campaign for your consideration.

"In Your Heart, You Know He's Right"

This was the presidential campaign slogan for the Republican nominee for President in 1964. Barry Goldwater denounced President Johnson's restrained policy in Vietnam and pledged to drive the Communists out of the South (Vietnam). Democrats portrayed Goldwater as an apostle of war and felt he would recklessly use nuclear weapons. In a famous anti-Goldwater television ad a tranquil scene was suddenly obliterated by a rising mushroom cloud, changing Goldwater's campaign slogan from "In your heart, you know he's right" to "In your heart, you know he might!" From the 1964 Goldwater campaign, we offer four different near mint to mint condition buttons for your consideration.

"I Want to be a Captain, Too"

The 1940 Presidential election featured the Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt (running for a third term) and his Republican counterpart Wendell Willkie. In this particular election, the Willkie campaign produced numerous anti-Roosevelt slogan buttons. One in particular brings special mention. In 1940, Roosevelt's son Elliott applied for a commission as a captain in the Army Air Corps. When F.D.R. granted the promotion, the Republicans jumped on the issue, crying nepotism. Immediately, Willkie's campaign began producing buttons identical or similar to the above pictured button making the public aware of F.D.R.'s "indiscretion". Palau "Poker" Coins

In the game of poker, "Hole Cards" refer to the two cards that the player keeps hidden during play. The nickname for the special hole card combination of two queens is "Ladies". In 2009, the Republic of Palau issued a set of two different $1.00 face value coins recognizing the game of poker. Each coin design features a pair of queens ("Ladies") and utilizes a portion of actual playing cards that were once used in casinos of Las Vegas. Measuring a giant 50 millimeters and weighing over one ounce (35 grams), both coins were minted using a special copper-zinc alloy. Produced in a unique antique finish, both of these low mintage uncirculated "Poker" coins can be yours for only...

White House Easter Egg Roll

It is believed that the first Easter egg roll was held during the administration of President Andrew Johnson (1865-1869). Celebrated on Easter Monday, the majority of Easter egg rolls were held on Capitol grounds. In 1876, with an inadequate budget to landscape and maintain the grounds, Congress passed a law forbidding the Capitol grounds to be used as a children's playground. The law, slated to begin in 1877, was made moot because of an Easter Monday downpour of rain. The next year, on Easter Saturday of 1878, an announcement was made to the local press stating that the new law would be enforced. That same day, while taking his daily walk, President Rutherford B. Hayes was approached by a number of egg rollers who inquired about the possibilities of egg rolling on the south lawn of the White House. Upon returning to his office, Hayes issued an official order stating that "should any children arrive to egg roll on Easter Monday, that they would be allowed to do so." This tradition has been carried on to this day. Ironically, as in 1877, the actual Easter egg roll did not occur that year because of inclement weather. To celebrate this event, we offer a 2001 Easter Egg Roll button for your consideration. This colorful 2.25-inch button, backed by 150 years of tradition, is priced at only...

Japan vs. Russia War Medal (1904-5)

On February 8, 1904, Japan declared war on Russia because of Russian encroachment in Korea, and the Russian occupation of Manchuria. Taking the offensive, Japanese naval units attacked Russian warships at Chemulpo and Port Arthur, and blockaded the Russian Asiatic ports. After driving the Russian troops out of Korea, and defeating the Russians at Port Arthur and Mukden, Japanese Admiral Togo destroyed the Russian Baltic fleet in May 1905. A treaty of "truce" was arranged by U.S. President Theodore Roosevelt and was signed on September 5, 1905. To honor those Japanese military personnel who participated in this conflict, a war medal was established by the Imperial edict (#51) on March 31, 1906. Nancy Reagan "First Lady" Button

Nancy Reagan, our First Lady (1981-1989) was married to Ronald Reagan on March 4, 1952. Born Anne Frances Robbins, she was nicknamed "Nancy" in infancy. She knew little of her biological father, who divorced her mother shortly after she was born. She was raised until the age of eight by a maternal aunt while her mother pursued a theatrical career. In 1929, her mother married Dr. Loyal Davis, who legally adopted "Nancy" eight years later. She gained her first acting experience in 1946, and in 1949 she embarked on a career that included eleven films. She met Ronald Reagan in 1949 and they were married three years later. During their married life she supported his acting career, which lasted until 1965, his political career as governor of California (1967-1975), his attempt at a presidential nomination (1976) and as our 40th President (1981-1989). Nancy was said to have been very influential with the President, lobbying him on a variety of issues. We offer a large and very colorful three-inch button featuring Nancy Reagan, one of the most popular First Ladies in history, for only...

Zeppelin Donation Pin

Dr. Hugo Eckener (1868-1954) was the guiding force of the Zeppelin Company both during and after World War I. Hired as a publicist in 1908, he quickly excelled and became head of the company upon the death of Ferdinand Von Zeppelin in 1917. An engineer, a marketer and a public relations genius, Eckener successfully negotiated a deal to present a Zeppelin to the United States as part of Germany's World War I reparations. This Zeppelin became known as the U.S.S. Los Angeles. In the midst of tremendous post-World War I upheaval in Germany, Eckener masterfully convinced the German public to donate to the Zeppelin Company to keep it solvent. Just as they had done for Kaiser Wilhelm II during World War I for his "Gold for Iron" appeal, the German public responded positively to "Zeppelin Eckener Spende". In appreciation of financial support, this special pin was awarded to those who donated. Made of silk and woven in four colors, this 1.75 inch oval-shaped pin features the name of the cause and shows a Zeppelin in flight. The reverse, goldline in color, displays the hallmark of Dr. R. Morisse and Company of Elberfeld. This nearly nine decade old historical treasure is in near mint to mint condition and is priced at only...

German Mother's Cross

The Cross of Honor of the German Mother (a.k.a. Mother's Cross) was an award of the Nazi Regime. It was instituted on December 16, 1938, as part of Adolph Hitler's initiative to encourage the growth of the Aryan population. Only women of German origin qualified for this award which was given annually on the second Sunday in May (Mother's Day). Mothers were honored in three different classifications depending on the number of children they had borne. Eight or more children would entitle the woman to a gold cross, six or seven for silver, and four or five for bronze. The obverse design of the Mother's Cross depicts a round shield affixed to a cross bearing the inscription "Der Deutschen Mutter" encircling a black enamel swastika on a white enamel field. The cross is in blue enamel with white enamel edges. The reverse features an engraved date of December 16, 1938, along with a facsimile signature of Germany's infamous Fuhrer. “Desert Fox” WW2 Africa Corps Service Patch

Erwin Johannes Eugen Rommel was one of the most famous German Field Marshals of World War II. Chosen by Hitler as Commander of the German Africa Corps, Rommel quickly earned the nickname “Desert Fox” for the skillful military campaigns he waged. In contrast to many other figures in Nazi Germany, Rommel was considered to be chivalrous and humane. When Hitler made orders to kill civilians and capture Jewish soldiers within theaters of his command, Rommel defiantly ignored them. Following the defeat of the Axis powers in North Africa, and while defending occupied France, Rommel’s fortunes changed. After becoming a suspect in the failed July 20, 1944 plot to kill Hitler, he was forced to commit suicide. From the battlegrounds of World War II North Africa, we have acquired a very limited quantity of service patches used by the troops of General Rommel. Made of cloth, this patch measures over two inches and is in very nice condition.

The “V-1” Flying Bomb German Propaganda Leaflet

The German V-1 flying bomb (also known to the Allies as the “Buzz Bomb”) was an early pulsejet powered predecessor of the cruise missile. The V-1 was developed at the Peene Munde Army Research center by the Nazi Germany Luftwaffe in WWII. It was designed for the terror bombing of London. Fired from launch sites along the French and Dutch coasts, a total of 9,521 V-1 bombs were fired at S.E. England during 1944-5. We offer this historical WWII German propaganda leaflet which was dropped on England during this time period. The obverse of this leaflet shows the phrase V-1 in a red circle surrounded by four cartoons. The reverse warns the Great Britain’s air defense system has been rendered worthless by the flying V-1 bomb and states that the V-1 fling bombs “aren’t the last bluff”. Captain Marvel Junior- Ski Jump

Captain Marvel Junior was first introduced by Fawcett Comics in December 1941. A sudden bolt of lightning and everyday paperboy Freddy Freeman became the World's Mightiest Teenager and the sidekick to Captain Marvel (also known as the character Shazam). Unlike his elder, Junior remains a teenage boy and does not grow up when transformed into a superhero. Captain Marvel Junior was a big hit with young boys and caught the imagination of one young fan in particular; Elvis Presley. In fact, Presley's Captain Marvel Junior comic book collection still resides at Graceland! This 1940's "Sensational Action Toy" is die-cut paper and features Captain Marvel Junior on a pair of skis. When assembled he would "Soar skillfully and make a perfect upright landing". Produced by Reed and Associates out of Chicago, Illinois, this toy was part of a line of dime store toys. We offer this vintage comic book action toy in near mint condition for only...

Winston Churchill Crown

Most people remember Winston Churchill as the Prime Minister of Great Britain during World War II. He served in that capacity until 1955 when he was forced to retire for health reasons. A man of tremendous talents, he received a Nobel Prize in literature in 1953. So loved in America, Congress actually conferred on him honorary American citizenship in 1963. During his public service in Great Britain, he served under six different monarchs: Queen Victoria, Edward VII, George IV, Edward VIII, George VI and Elizabeth II. He died in 1965 at the age of 90 and in his honor, this copper-nickel crown was issued. It was the first time in over 300 years that a "commoner" had appeared on an English coin. We offer a Brilliant Uncirculated Churchill Crown dated 1965 for only...

He Declined the Presidential Nomination (1916)

Elihu Root (1845-1937), a very accomplished man, graduated law school at New York University in 1867. After one year in practice, he founded his own law firm at the age of 23. By the time he was in his thirties, he had become a prominent and wealthy corporate lawyer. In 1899, President McKinley, realizing Root's abilities, invited him to become his Secretary of War, a post Root excelled in from 1899-1904. In 1905, President Theodore Roosevelt chose Root as his Secretary of State, and Root's accomplishments at this position were also very impressive. Root even won the Nobel Peace Prize. Choosing politics over law, Root was elected Senator of New York (1909-1915). In 1916, at the age of 71, he declined the Republican nomination for the presidency, but still received over 100 votes at the convention. Elihu Root, with his tremendous insight, intelligence and abilities, would have made a very good president, but it was not to be. Our 32nd President

On November 8, 1932, American voters chose a new president: Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Unhappy with the incumbent, the voters elected Roosevelt over Hoover by a seven million popular vote margin and an electoral vote margin of 472 to 59. Under Roosevelt, times improved. From 1932 to 1944, Roosevelt won an unprecedented four presidential elections, defeating Hoover (1932), Landon (1936), Willkie (1940) and Dewey (1944), and led his country out of the Great Depression.

This lithograph of Roosevelt may be familiar, as many people proudly hung this picture of their beloved President in their homes. This inaugural lithograph of Franklin D. Roosevelt is from his first presidential victory. It measures approximately 21" x 16", is in color and is dated 1933. George W. Bush Presidential Campaign Buttons

George W. Bush's first run for the Presidency in 2000 against Al Gore had some unconventional results. He lost the popular vote by over a half million votes but won the electoral vote by a margin of 271-266, but only after a Supreme Court decision upheld the certification of electoral votes. In 2004, Bush ran for re-election against his Democratic rival John Kerry. In this election, he was victorious in both the popular vote (by over three million votes) and the electoral vote (by a margin of 286-251). We have assembled political button lots consisting of both campaigns (2000 and 2004). German WWI Cross of Honor

The German World War I Cross of Honor was instituted by Adolf Hitler's Third Reich on July 13, 1934, and was the only commemorative military award issued during this period. Its purpose was to recognize the veterans who served, and fell, during the Great War (World War I), however, many felt that it was actually Hitler's attempt to sway veterans to the New Order by rewarding them for their past service to the Fatherland. This medal, measuring 1.5" x 1.5", displays a Maltese cross with a deep bronze finish, with the dates 1914-1918 embossed in the center surrounded by an oak leaf wreath and crossed swords. "Give 'Em Hell, Harry!"

This saying, yelled by a supporter at a 1948 rally in Seattle, probably best describes the personality of Harry Truman. Truman, who had just completed the balance of FDR's administration (FDR died in 1945), was forced to make a series of very difficult decisions in the final months of World War II. It is felt by many that his bold moves significantly shortened the duration of the war. When he ran for president in 1948, few believed he could beat the Republican, Thomas Dewey. In fact, so sure that Dewey would win, the Chicago Tribune sent out its early edition with the headline "Dewey Defeats Truman". But on January 20, 1949, it was Truman and not Dewey who took the Presidential Oath of Office. Through a very fortunate purchase, we are able to offer an authentic 1.75 inch 1949 Inaugural button-dated and picturing Harry Truman. This very scarce button is priced at only...

Distinguished Flying Cross

The Distinguished Flying Cross was established in 1926. The original purpose was to recognize aviation pioneers. Charles Lindbergh, Richard E. Byrd and Amelia Earhardt both received this medal for their accomplishments. Beginning in 1927, this award was only given to members of the Armed Services. Currently the criteria for receiving the Distinguished Flying Cross is that it is only awarded to Armed Service personnel who distinguish themselves by acts of heroism or extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight.

An Invitation To See The President

These are true rarities...genuine pieces of Americana that you probably won't ever see offered anywhere else. Certainly not at these low prices. Hang one or more of these Presidential Inaugural Invitations on the wall and impress your friends and business acquaintances. They'll think you hobnob with the rich and famous. Or, that you might have slept in Lincoln's bedroom. We promise not to tell what a pittance you paid. We have large (8.25" x 10.75") original engraved invitations to Presidential inaugurations from Truman-Barkley (1949) to Obama-Biden (2013). The Presidential seal is embossed at the top. Each comes in a heavy clear holder to protect its archival value.

Coin Without A Denomination

The 1883 "V" or Liberty nickel first appeared without the word "CENTS" anywhere on the coin. The only denomination was a large V on the reverse. When some of these coins were gold plated and passed off as $5.00 gold pieces, the government was forced to act quickly and add the word "CENTS".

Thus there were two different varieties in 1883, one without cents and one with cents. We just purchased a small quantity of nice AU/UNC 1883 "No Cent" nickels that we can offer at only...

The 54th Presidential Inauguration

The presidential election of 2000 was the most controversial and bitterly contested election since the 1876 Presidential race between Rutherford Hayes and Samuel Tilden. Victory was not decided until one month after the election. The final tally scored Bush a loser in popular votes but a winner in the electoral vote count (271 to 266). Thus on January 20, 2001, it was George W. Bush taking the Presidential oath instead of Al Gore. From this inaugural celebration, we offer the official 54th Presidential Inaugural Guide Book. Comprised of 76 pages, it features the presidential and vice-presidential families and a wealth of information regarding the inaugural. Nazi Germany Bond Issue of 1940

This authentic 500 Mark Nazi bond was issued on May 31, 1940, at a time when Germany desperately needed money to fund its growing war machine. Offering a return to investors of 4%, these bonds would never see redemption when Germany lost the war and its financial solvency in 1945. Measuring 8.5" x 11.75", this ornately engraved certificate was issued from the Third Reich controlled treasury of Germany and printed by the Reichsdruckerei in Berlin. Displaying the German spread-winged eagle with infamous swastika along with printed signatures of nine different Nazi officials, this bond is a great World War II German collectors item. German W.H.W. Songbooks (WWII)

In Nazi Germany, the Winterhilfswerk (Winter Charity Campaign or W.H.W) raised a tremendous amount of money for charitable purposes. Each winter campaign collected contributions and gave donors a small memento as a sign of appreciation for their contribution. We offer this "Das Deutsche Lied", or German Songbook, which was a memento given to donors during the Nazi era. Heavily illustrated, this songbook measures approximately 2.125" x 2.75" and is approximately 12 pages. A great WWII memento!

"Stand Pat" With Roosevelt (1904)

Theodore Roosevelt craved the limelight. As one observer put it, he wanted to be "the bride at every wedding, the corpse at every funeral." After years of public service, he became Vice President under William McKinley. Upon McKinley's assassination, Theodore Roosevelt became our 26th President (September 14, 1901). He so loved the office that he never hesitated in running for the presidency in his own right (1904). He was unanimously nominated with 994 votes at the Republican National Convention in Chicago. In his campaign, he pushed the Republican platform, which called for the continuance of sound money, for expansion, protection and for prosperity. On the November 8th election, he soundly defeated his Democratic rival, Alton B. Parker. From Roosevelt's 1904 campaign, we offer a great political button. Fanned out like a poker hand, this extremely popular 1.25 inch "Stand Pat" button features four of Roosevelt's ideals with the fifth "trump card" showing his likeness. This button, in near mint condition, is competitively priced at only...

Germany's W.H.W. Program

The "Winterhilfswerk" (Winter Help Work of W.H.W.) was founded by the Nazi Party on September 13, 1933. It was the official Nazi Party Winter Relief Charity with a purpose of supporting the poor and hungry during the cold German winter months and at the same time creating a positive image for the party making recipients more receptive to party propaganda. According to the Nazi Party, beneficiaries in 1933-4 exceeded 16.6 million persons, or approximately 25% of the population. One of the methods of funding this program was the issuance of miniature booklets (approx. 1.5" x 2.0"), which were given to contributors as a token memento. Used from 1933-1940, these "donation gifts" explained the party's accomplishments with some of the text taken directly from Hitler's speeches. Complete with graphics, these booklets were holed on the back cover so that they could be hung for display. We offer this Third Reich collectible for your consideration. Year and booklet is of our choice.

Vietnam "Seven Flags" Safe Conduct Pass

A very powerful form of propaganda, safe conduct passes have been used since biblical times. They allowed the enemy to defect with the absolute knowledge that he would be treated fairly and that his life and safety would be guaranteed. During the Vietnam War, the United States produced a series of safe conduct passes encouraging the defection of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops. We offer this scarce "Seven Flags" safe conduct pass representing the Republic of Vietnam and its allies on the obverse and a black and white picture with a printed signature of Nguyen Van Thieu, the President of the Republic of Vietnam, on the reverse. Used in the motion picture "Platoon" (1986), this "Seven Flags" safe conduct pass measures approximately 6" x 3" and is in mint condition. This historical item is usually priced at around $20.00, but due to a fortunate purchase, we can offer it for only...

The Han Dynasty (202 BC – 220 AD)

The Chinese Dynasty of Han was founded by General Liu Bang in 202 BC, when he overthrew the Ch'in Dynasty. Lasting over four centuries (202 BC – 220 AD), the Han Dynasty reached its pinnacle of power under Han Wu-ti (140-87 BC). The coinage of this dynasty was of one denomination and one design. Cast in molds using liquid metal instead of being hammered, these bronze cash coins were round with a unique square hole in the middle. The obverse was inscribed with two characters, encircled by a plain, wide border. The reverse was plain. We offer this Chinese bronze cash coin from the Han Dynasty, as pictured, for only...

Showa (Hirohito) Enthronement Commemorative Silver Medal

On December 25, 1926, Hirohito ascended to the throne upon the death of his father, Yoshihito (Taisho) and became the 124th Emperor of Japan. Taking the name of Showa, he would rule Japan for sixty-two years (December 26, 1926 to January 7, 1989). From the enthronement ceremonies held in Kyoto on November 10-15, 1928, we offer this special commemorative medal.

Authorized by Imperial Edict #188 dated August 1, 1928, the obverse of this special silver commemorative displays a chrysanthemum crest in gilt attached to the center of the Imperial throne. On each side of the throne is a cloud symbolizing good fortune. The characters "Banzai!" are at the bottom, which translate to "May the Empire live for ten thousand years!" Also at the bottom are cherry blossoms and a mandarin orange. We offer this Showa (Hirohito) enthronement medal, complete with ribbon, for only...

The Winged Horse From Corinth

Corinth was one of the largest cities in ancient Greece, and coinage was very important to this commercial center. These silver

Greek Staters from Corinth feature Athena (the goddess of wisdom) on the obverse. The reverse depicts Pegasus, the winged horse that was fathered by Poseidon with Medusa. When Medusa's head was cut off by the Greek hero Perseus, the horse sprang forth from her pregnant body, and Pegasus was born. We offer nice Very Fine silver Staters from Corinth (circa 350-270 BC). This old saying has certainly come true! The South is stronger economically than ever before. Most confederate money is worth more to collectors today than it was valued when it was printed nearly 150 years ago.

We are fortunate to be able to offer our collectors the real thing... not modern reproductions. You will enjoy examining these beautifully engraved 19th Century notes with their antebellum scenes, Confederate heroes, etc.

Appropriately, the early issues of Confederate paper money were backed by cotton. Each of these historic pieces of Americana is in nice circulated condition and is housed in a clear plastic holder for protection.

Sambo's Wooden Nickel

The story of Little Black Sambo was first published in 1899 by Helen Bannerman, who had lived in Southern India. In the story, an Indian boy named Sambo prevails over a group of hungry tigers. The little boy has to relinquish his colorful new clothes, his shoes and his umbrella to four tigers so that they will not eat him. Sambo recovers all of his belongings when the jealous, conceited tigers chase each other around a tree until they are reduced to a pool of delicious melted butter. Although this story was a children's favorite for a half a century, it became controversial due to the word "Sambo", which is a racial slur in some countries. Recently, we purchased a small "hoard" of wooden nickels that were good for a 10¢ cup of coffee at any Sambo's Restaurant. Measuring approximately 1.5 inches, this near mint condition wooden nickel is available as follows...

WWII German Wehrpass

During 1935 conscription was reintroduced in Nazi Germany. The High Command of the Armed Forces activated military recruiting offices throughout the country to process and administer the call up procedure. When individuals received their registration notice they were to report to the appropriate recruitment center where they would be issued a Wehrpass (military pass). We offer this genuine 52-page military document which chronicles the individual's active service record. Each Wehrpass contains the individual's name, birth date, place of birth, religion, names of parents (mother and father) along with a black & white signed photograph of the individual. The infamous swastika is also stamped or printed on multiple pages throughout the booklet. This genuine Wehrpass (1938-1945) is in used but nice condition. It portrays a very dark period in German history.

Manilla (Slave Money)

The trade in slaves had been going on for many years during the early 1800's and had brought great wealth, especially to England. The local chiefs in Africa, traded their human cargo for many types of commodities and Manilla were one of the most favored. Manilla, manufactured in Birmingham, England, between 1830-1850, were shipped out to Benin on the Slave Coast of Africa. These Manilla were traded for slaves. These unfortunate slaves were then packed into the ships and taken to the West Indies. The Manilla we offer were raised by divers from the wreck of the English Schooner “Duoro” which sunk off the isles of Scilly in 1843.

Daniel De Leon “The Greatest of Modern Socialists”

According to Vladimir Lenin, Daniel De Leon (1852-1914) was “The Greatest of Modern Socialists- The only one who has added anything to Socialist thought since Karl Marx”. After studying at Columbia University, De Leon joined the Socialist Labor Party in 1890, becoming the editor of its newspaper, “The Weekly People”. A Marxist, De Leon argued for the revolutionary overthrow of capitalism. He ran for the governorship of New York as a Socialist in 1902, losing the election but receiving more than 15,000 votes. We offer two different one inch De Leon buttons, both issued after his death. The first button, colored black and white, is a 1914 memorial button picturing De Leon with the caption “We Mourn Our loss”. The second, colored red, black and white, issued in 1915 one year after his death, celebrates the 25th anniversary of the “Weekly People”. Currency of the Taliban

The Taliban, a Sunni Muslim Pashtun movement headed by Mullah Mohammed Omar, ruled Afghanistan from 1995-2001, until it was forcefully removed by the United States, Great Britain and the Northern Alliance. During the Taliban's "reign", the currency of choice was the 10,000 Afghani note. It was the largest denomination issued by Afghanistan and its use was instrumental in financing Al Qaeda terrorist training that ultimately led to attacks on the United States, Great Britain, Africa, Bosnia, Egypt, Indonesia, the Philippines and Somalia. With the issuance of new Afghan notes, these 1993 10,000 Afghani notes are now obsolete and have been destroyed by the Afghan government. We offer Crisp AU/Unc examples of these high denomination notes that were once used by the Taliban.

Gratian (367-383 A.D.)

Gratian (Flavius Gratianus) was the son of Valentinian I and his first wife, Severa. He became emperor at the age of seven and "ruled" jointly with his father until the latter's death in 375 A.D. With the death of Valentinian I, Gratian, still a teenager, ascended to the throne as joint ruler with his Uncle Valens and his four year old half brother, Valentinian II. Gratian ruled the West, Valens the East, and Valentinian II was given the title Augustus nominally. When Valens was killed at Hadrianopolis in 378 A.D., Gratian elevated Theodosius to be Augustus in the East. Gratian was killed five years later, in 383 A.D. Hindenburg Memorial Two Mark Silver Coin

Paul Von Hindenburg was Germany's greatest hero of World War 1. He was elected President of Germany in 1925. In 1932, he ran for President again as the only candidate capable of beating the National Socialist candidate, Adolph Hitler. He won the election, and perhaps as an attempt at halting his popularity or satisfying his ambitious dreams, made Hitler Chancellor of Germany.

He died in 1934 and was honored on these silver 2 Reichsmark coins minted between 1936-1939. The coins grade XF/AU and we have seen them sell for as much as $19.95 each.

The Purple Heart

The Purple Heart was established by George Washington in 1782 as an award of military merit. Although it was meant to be given as a permanent and ongoing award, only a few were presented and it fell into disuse. In 1932, it was reactivated as an award for wounds received in wars up to and including World War I. Outside of a brief time period (less than a year) when this medal was also awarded for meritorious service, the Purple Heart has only been used as an award for those wounded in combat. This medal has also been awarded posthumously. With a recent change in U.S. government policy, the much beloved and respected Purple Heart, along with other medals, can now be enjoyed by collectors and military history buffs alike. We offer this medal, housed in a deluxe presentation case, for only...

Dated Off-Center Lincoln Cents

This dramatic error occurs when a blank planchet that has been fed into the press fails to land in the collar correctly. Since the blank lands partly on the top of the collar, when the dies strike the blank, only part of the design is stamped, leaving the remainder unstruck and featureless. With recent improved methods of striking coinage at the mints, off-center errors now rarely occur, thus increasing their scarcity. Ten Decades of Presidential Political Buttons

We have recently acquired a massive collection of presidential political buttons that span from the early 1900's to the election of 2008. The assortment is so extensive that it is possible for us to offer over 200 different buttons! Each group grades near mint to mint condition and starts with a World War I era button. Each lot contains a representation of every decade from the teens through the 2008 election for a total of ten different decades! You will receive a great button assortment of candidates who have helped to shape this nation's political history for nearly a century, including Democrats, Republicans and Independents. As a special bonus, we will include inaugural buttons from some of our recent presidents, including Ronald Reagan and Barack Obama. And it doesn't stop there! Each lot will also include a "flasher" button from the 1960's. This collection of over 200 different presidential buttons would easily bring over $500.00 if purchased individually, however, our asking price is only a fraction of this amount. Purchase this lot now and receive a 1948 Truman button (a $29.50 value) free of charge.

George McClellan Presidential Election Ballots (1864)

The presidential election of 1864 was held on November 8, 1864. Abraham Lincoln ran for re-election as the Republican (National Union Party) nominee against Democratic candidate George B. McClellan, who ran as the “Peace Candidate”, repudiating his party’s anti-war platform, which promised to end the war and negotiate with the enemy. McClellan supported the continuation of war and the restoration of the Union although not the abolition of slavery. The deep division with the Democratic Party, the unity of the Republicans and the military successes by Union forces in the fall of 1864 doomed McClellan’s candidacy. Abraham Lincoln won re-election with a 55% to 45% popular vote advantage coupled with an electoral vote victory of 212 to 21. We have just purchased a small hoard of authentic Democratic ballots for the 1864 presidential election. From Ohio, each ballot is spindle canceled and lists the electors for the state at large and for each congressional district. These were actually used by Union soldiers on the battlefield! Much scarcer than Lincoln election ballots, this historic ballot is priced at only:

Century Old "Tin Type" Photographs

These antique photographs are over well 100 years old and are true conversation pieces! Before the wide use of photography on paper, photographs were processed on metal strips, called tin types. Although paper was also used at the time, it was actually quicker and easier to process pictures on metal (it was felt that metal had more durability and more longevity).

The term "lights, camera, action" surely did not apply to early photographs. It was more like lights, camera and hold your pose. It's no wonder that no one ever smiled in the photographs produced in the 1800's. It took approximately 60 seconds to complete a photograph (it's a lot easier to hold a stern pose than a smile for this length of time).

Tin Type photographs were made from the 1840's to about 1895. The photographs we offer here are some of the most interesting we have ever seen. The variety of facial expressions and clothes offer us a look back to a very historical period of time.

We have priced these photographs at antique gift shops and when you could find them they were almost always $50 or more. We have just purchased a large selection of tin types and can offer them at more than 80% off regular prices.

During the early 1940's, the Soviet Union turned up its propaganda efforts by dropping leaflets on German troops calling for their immediate surrender, pointing out that continued German resistance would be pointless. Many of these leaflets also promised good treatment and safe conduct for German soldiers who did surrender. We have just acquired a small quantity of these authentic Soviet propaganda leaflets, all of which are printed in German. Most of what we have are different, so we offer these as they come (our choice). Each pamphlet is housed in an archival holder and is priced at only...

Scarce McGovern – Eagleton Button

The election of 1972 pitted the Democrat George McGovern against the incumbent Republican President Richard Nixon. At the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach, Florida, McGovern's first three choices for vice president (Edward Kennedy, Abraham Ribicoff and Reubin Askew) all declined. He then chose Thomas Eagleton, who was nominated. Soon after the convention, however, it was disclosed that Eagleton had undergone electric shock therapy for mental depression. McGovern, who had first stood behind his running mate "1,000%", dumped him from the ticket in favor of Sargent Shriver. McGovern lost the election in November by almost 18 million popular votes and by 503 electoral votes. We offer this 1.25 inch McGovern-Eagleton button for your consideration.

U.S. Army Artilleryman Sleeve Patch

The Field Artillery branch of the Army was founded on November 17, 1775, by the Continental Congress and officially entered service on January 1, 1776. It still exists today, with the home station located at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Members of the Field Artillery are referred to as "redlegs" because during the Civil War they were distinguished by scarlet stripes down the legs of their uniform pants. Harry S. Truman was a redleg, and the only redleg to become President. We have just purchased a small quantity of United States Army Artilleryman sleeve patches, which were used in the 1920's just after World War I. Round in shape with an insignia of two crossed field guns proudly displayed, this sleeve patch measures 2.5 inches and is in near mint condition.

Romulus and Remus, Mythical Founders of Rome

According to legend, the twin brothers, sons of Mars and a vestal virgin, were cast adrift on the river Tiber by their scheming great uncle. They were saved by a she-wolf who suckled them until they were found by shepherds and reared by a royal herdsman and his wife. They survived to slay their great uncle and to found the city of Rome in BC 753. This coin was struck by Constantine the Great and his two sons for two reasons. First, it celebrated the founding of the new capital city of the Roman Empire (Constantinople) in AD 330. Secondly, this coin honored the upcoming 1100th Anniversary of the founding of Rome. The obverse of the coin depicts the goddess Roma (the personification of the Roman Empire) with a helmet and armor, attired for battle. The reverse depicts Romulus and Remus being nursed by the she-wolf. The two stars above the wolf symbolize the twins, who became stars in the heavens above, watching over and protecting the city after their death. We offer nice VG coins for only...

Nixon vs. Brown – 1962

After losing the presidential election of 1960 to J.F.K., Richard Nixon decided to run in California's 1962 gubernatorial election as the Republican candidate. At the time,

California was a "red" or Republican state, and it was felt that Nixon would beat the incumbent, Edmund G. Brown, Sr. (Jerry Brown's father). However, when the votes were counted, Nixon would lose by almost 300,000 popular votes. In his concession speech, Nixon accused the media of favoring his opponent Brown and stated that this was "his last press conference" and that "you won't have Nixon to kick around anymore." Medieval Russian Silver "Wire Money"

These tiny silver coins were used during the reigns of Czar Michael Fedorovich Romanoff (1613-1645), the first Romanoff czar of Russia, and Ivan the Terrible (1533-1584). They were known as "wire money" because they were actually made from silver wire that was flattened at the end and struck with a hammer die. The finished piece was then clipped off and put into circulation in Medieval Russia. We offer two different types of these unique coins:

Inner Box Cigar Labels

For over a century, cigar manufacturers have used brilliant colors and ornate graphics to effectively promote their products, and in many cases have gone to great expense to do so. We recently purchased an extensive collection of inner box cigar labels from one of our customers, who told us they had been in storage for almost 40 years! Most of the labels in this collection measure approximately 6" x 9" and were printed in the 1920's and 1930's. Every label is in near mint condition and is a great piece of artwork.

Day Memorial

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. was an American pastor, activist, humanitarian, and leader in the African-American civil rights movement. Born Michael King, his father changed his name in honor of German reformer Martin Luther. A Baptist minister, King became a civil rights activist in his early twenties, and on October 14, 1964 he received the Nobel Peace Prize for combating racial inequality through non-violence. On April 4, 1968 he was assassinated in Memphis, Tennessee by James Earl Ray. Fifteen years later, in honor of King, President Ronald Reagan signed a bill creating a federal holiday in his name. Observed for the first time on January 20, 1986, it is called Martin Luther King, Jr. Day and is observed on the third Monday of January every year.

In honor of Martin Luther King, Jr., Budweiser issued this rectangular 1.75" x 2.75" button dated January 19, 1987. It shows the profile of King within the Liberty Bell, and states "Let Freedom Ring-A New American Tradition". We offer this mint condition button for only...

"The Compromise of 1877"

The election of 2000 showed us that the candidate with the most popular votes isn't necessarily the victor, otherwise Al Gore would have been our 43rd President. Even though the 2000 election was "sloppy", the election of 1876 between Samuel Tilden (Democrat) and Rutherford Hayes (Republican) was worse! The result of the 1876 Presidential election remained in doubt for months, despite the fact that Samuel Tilden had won a popular majority. The controversy was over electoral votes in a number of states, mostly in the South, which had certified two sets of returns. Congress was left to decide how to adjudicate the matter. An electoral commission, consisting of five members from each house and five Supreme Court justices (seven Democrats and eight Republicans), was created to decide which returns to accept. Then, several joint sessions of Congress were held to determine whether to accept or reject the findings of the commission. Most of the votes were cast along party lines. The imbroglio lasted until just three days before the inauguration, ended by what would come to be known as "The Compromise of 1877": the White House would go to the Republicans in exchange for an end to federal occupation of the South under the reconstruction policies. As a result, Rutherford Hayes was sworn in as our 19th President on March 5, 1877, having lost the popular vote but having won the electoral vote. We offer a 3" x 4.75" Gallery Pass, which is dated, numbered and has printed signatures. Cigar Bands from the "Golden Age"

The origin of the cigar band is steeped in myth, one being that Russian Tsaritsa Catherine the Great took cigars and wrapped them in silk so as to not stain her fingers. Other stories tell of paper bands being used on cigars exported to England to prevent the staining of "gentleman's" white gloves. Most historians believe that it was a European immigrant to Cuba, Gustave Bock who invented the cigar band. We just bought a large group of near mint to mint condition cigar bands, all made during the "Golden Age". We have assembled these colorful bands into the following assortments. Don't delay your order, as these always sell out!

"A Political Deal"

The Democratic National Convention of 1932 was held in Chicago. Franklin D. Roosevelt was the front-runner followed by Alfred E. Smith (the 1928 nominee) and House Speaker John Nance Garner. Needing 770 votes for nomination, Roosevelt received 666 ¼ on the first ballot with 201 going for Smith and 90 ¼ for Garner. Figuring that Roosevelt would win the nomination, Garner "cut a deal" with the front-runner, promising him his support in exchange for the vice-presidential position on the ticket. This support was all Roosevelt needed to secure the nomination. Prior to this "political deal", Garner's campaign had issued a very limited number of presidential hopeful buttons. The Election of 1888

The Presidential Election of 1888 was another one for the history books. It marked the second time in history that the candidate with the most popular votes did not win the election. The first was in 1876. In the election held on November 6, 1888, the incumbent, President Grover Cleveland, received the greatest number of popular votes, but Republican challenger Benjamin Harrison's 233 electoral votes topped Cleveland's 168 to give him the victory. We have been able to obtain two different lapel studs from the 1888 campaign, one promoting Grover Cleveland ("C") and vice presidential candidate Allen Thurman ("T") and the other featuring an American flag motif. Both measuring 7/8 inch and printed on silk with a metal support, these historic red, white and blue mementos from the 1888 election are priced quite reasonably:

James A. Garfield Inaugural Invitation

The election of 1880 was a close one. James Garfield (Republican) was victorious with 48.3% of the vote to 48.2% for his Democratic opponent Winfield Hancock. Garfield also won the electoral vote 214 to 155. On March 4, 1881, Garfield would be inaugurated as our 20th President and we have the inaugural invitation! Printed by Homer Lee Banknote Company, this very ornate 9.75" x 6" inaugural invitation features George Washington surrounded by a wreath, six American flags and an eagle. At the left and right of the invitation, also surrounded by a wreath, are President-Elect James A. Garfield and Vice President-Elect Chester A. Arthur. The year 1881 would prove to be a sad one. Less than four months into his administration (July 2, 1881), Garfield was shot twice by an assassin named Charles J. Guiteau. Garfield would die on September 17, 1881, and be succeeded by his Vice President Chester A. Arthur. We offer this 1881 inaugural invitation, which is in very nice condition, for only...

"Dome of the Rock" Note

This very colorful 1000 Rials note from the Islamic Republic of Iran features two different noteworthy themes. On the obverse of the note is the Ayatollah Khomeini and on the reverse is the Mosque of Omar. The reverse has a deep religious significance. Also known as the Dome of the Rock, this mosque is located in Jerusalem. For the Muslims, the rock in the center of the dome is believed to be the spot from which Muhammed ascended to God in heaven. To those of the Jewish or Christian faith, the stone is the site where Abraham fulfilled God's test to see if he would be willing to sacrifice his own son Isaac. We offer this Crisp Uncirculated note dated 1992, with its historic themes, for only...

Vintage Comic Books

These vintage comic books are well over a half century old. Issued in the 1940's and 1950's, each possesses an advertisement for Valley Brand Milk on the outside back cover. Each piece contains at least 20 pages of color comics printed on newsprint and measures approximately 7.125" x 3.375". All in nice condition, we offer the following:

The Father of "Marxism"

Karl Marx (1818-1883) was a Prussian-German philosopher and a revolutionary Socialist whose ideas played a significant part in the establishment of the Socialist and Communist movements. His theory, referred to as "Marxism", held that human societies progress through a class struggle, and that there was a conflict between the ownership class that controlled production and the proletariat that provided labor for production. We have just purchased a small group of Karl Marx 7/8 inch picture buttons. Issued from approximately 1905 to 1910, these buttons memorialized Karl Marx and promoted the Socialist mindset. In near mint condition, this historic button is priced at only...

From San Juan Hill to the Presidency

Although he was best known as commander of the "Rough Riders" during the Spanish-American War, Theodore Roosevelt was also very popular as the 26th President of the United States. Roosevelt's rise to the presidency was an unorthodox one. At the Republican National Convention in 1900, he was chosen and accepted the nomination as McKinley's Vice-President.

McKinley won re-election but was assassinated a year later, thus making Roosevelt the President. Three years later, in 1904, Theodore Roosevelt was nominated unanimously as the Republican Presidential Candidate. Roosevelt and his Vice Presidential choice, Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, easily defeated their Democratic opponent Alton B. Parker in the November election. We just purchased a cache of almost mint to mint "Teddy" Roosevelt political buttons, all carrying his likeness. Although we have different styles, the above pictured buttons offer a sample of what you will receive.

No Third Term!

The year was 1940 and Franklin D. Roosevelt was running for an unprecedented third term. The Republicans, headed by their presidential candidate, Wendell Willkie, were crying foul, concentrating their attack on Roosevelt's violation of the two-term precedent established by George Washington. With Roosevelt's success in pulling the country out of the Great Depression and with possible U.S. involvement in WWII looming, the voters were not about to change horses. Roosevelt went on to win both a third and a fourth term. We offer "no third term" buttons from the 1940 campaign, identical to the above button, priced at only...

William Jennings Bryan

William Jennings Bryan (1860-1925) was a lawyer, statesman and politician. After serving in the House of Representatives (1891-1895), he became the youngest presidential candidate ever when he was chosen by the Democratic Party in 1896. Although he lost to McKinley, he remained strong in the party and was nominated a second time in 1900, but again lost to McKinley. After another nomination in 1908 and another loss, this time to Taft, his presidential aspirations ended. He did continue in politics however, and in 1913 was appointed as Secretary of State by President Wilson. Bryan, a devout Christian and opponent of Darwinism, is probably best known for his participation in the highly publicized Scopes Trial (1925), serving as counsel for the World Christian Fundamentals Association. We celebrate the political life of this thrice nominated presidential candidate with an offer of Bryan political buttons. We offer 7/8" picture buttons (without regard to campaign year) as follows:

Democrat or Republican?

Wendell Willkie was an American industrialist and political leader. He practiced law in Ohio (1914-1923) and in New York (1923-1933) before becoming President of the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation (1933), a giant utility holding company. A registered Democrat who was actually a Roosevelt delegate at the 1932 Democratic National Convention, Willkie had become disenchanted with F.D.R.'s New Deal programs and with the Democratic party, so, in 1940, he bolted the party and became a Republican, and just a few months later found himself a nominee for president at the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia. Receiving 105 votes on the first ballot, he was definitely the underdog. But by the sixth ballot, he had 633 votes, which were enough to secure the nomination. Willkie had never run for a public office and even though he lost to F.D.R. in the November Presidential election, he did receive over 22 million popular votes (44.8%). We offer two different 1.25 inch picture buttons from Willkie's 1940 campaign, as pictured.

Kaiser Wilhelm II's Appeal for Gold

In 1916, the German government of Kaiser Wilhelm II was deeply entrenched in World War I and desperately needed money (gold) to finance the continuing war effort. In his attempt to secure gold, the Kaiser appealed directly to the German population for help, stating that it was "patriotic" for them to redeem their gold for currency. For those who did participate, a special medallion (donation token), made of iron, was issued expressing the government's appreciation for their patriotic contribution to the German war effort. Dated 1916, this large 40mm medallion, when translated, states "I gave gold and received iron in honor of it." Grading XF, this great German World War I memento is priced at only...

Viet Cong Surrender Leaflets

These Viet Cong surrender leaflets were dropped into the Vietnamese countryside during 1965-6 for two reasons: (1) to convince members of the Viet Cong to give up their guerrilla ways and to return to a productive life in their villages and (2) to persuade villagers to support the war against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. These multi-themed leaflets show photos of North Vietnamese P.O.W.'s decorating their barracks and a soccer game in action. The underlying message is that of ending the war. On the reverse of the leaflet is a more direct statement: "Freedom is better than being a prisoner of war, but being a prisoner of war is better than getting killed." We offer this authentic (8.25" x 3.25") Viet Cong surrender leaflet in excellent condition as follows:

Theodore Roosevelt: Progressive Candidate, 1912

The Progressive or "Bull Moose" party is most famous for the election of 1912. Theodore Roosevelt, who was president from 1901-1908, decided he wanted to run again in 1912. His party, the Republicans, decided they would go with Taft, the incumbent, instead of Roosevelt. This infuriated Roosevelt, so in an act of defiance, he bolted from the Republican Party and became a candidate for the Progressive (Bull Moose) Party. We have just purchased a small quantity of election cards promoting Progressive candidates. Printed in Riverside, California, in 1912, for the Roosevelt Republican Club, these nearly century old pieces are a rare find. Don't miss out on this memento from the election that made political history.

Set of Five Railroad Hat/Lapel Pins

The mid 1800's saw the transformation of transportation with American railroads taking the front seat! Events such as industrialization, the Civil war and the California gold rush caused a boom in the railroad business with the Great Northern Railway being founded in 1857 with service from St. Paul, Minnesota to Seattle, Washington. Union Pacific Railroad was then founded under the Pacific Railroad Act of 1862 while Lincoln was still in office. The Southern Pacific Railroad Line was organized in 1865 by a group of gentlemen in San Francisco. The Nevada County Railroad was a narrow gauge which ran over $200 million in gold and cash from Grass Valley California to Nevada City and back during the gold rush (this company in 1901 had the very first female railroad president in the world). Lastly, when the Wells Fargo Stagecoach Division began to fail due to the popularity of rail, the company formed the first transcontinental express railroad line utilizing over a dozen railroads and promoted the first refrigerated cars. Commemorating this amazing century of innovation, we bring you a collection of five railroad hat/lapel pins representing each company's official logo. Most lots will include the companies described or other fascinating lines. Yours for only...

The Presidential Election of 1884

The presidential election of 1884 pitted the Democratic candidate Grover Cleveland against his Republican opponent James G. Blaine. When the ballots were counted in November, Cleveland would win the general election by a very narrow margin of 62,683 popular votes and 37 electoral votes. On inauguration day (March 4, 1885) Cleveland would become our 22nd president. From this inaugural event we offer a very ornate presidential inaugural invitation. Measuring approximately 9.5" x 7", its design represents a multitude of different themes. At the top stands an allegorical figure of Columbia with two female figures at her feet representing education and science. In the background, the White House stands proudly. Below Columbia are ovals featuring both President Cleveland and Vice President Hendricks flanked by American flags and floral sprays along with printed signatures of both men. To the left and right of the candidates are listings of the officers and members of the General Committee. This spectacular inaugural invitation sells elsewhere for $595.00. However, we have made it available to one fortunate collector for only...
